Juror Bribe Case Awaits Panel Study

Arguments Given As Trial Ends In Cunningham's Case

A Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon was slated to begin deliberations this afternoon in the bribery trial of Ira Cunningham, former city patrolman, who testified Tuesday he had lost his memory concerning the events of October and November.

Cunningham, charged with attempting to influence a prospective juror in his burglary trial in November, said yesterday afternoon his mind was "a blank" concerning the three- to four-week period last fall.

The 52-year-old ex-officer, speaking in a subdued voice, said he was still ill and under psychiatric care.

At the conclusion to his testimony yesterday, he remained in the witness chair, indicating to Judge Joel H. Sharp he felt faint. A recess was ordered while Cunningham regained his composure.

Earlier, his wife had testified he had become "nervous and upset" in September.

Cunningham was convicted Nov. 21 of a 1952 burglary of the Burbick Hardware Co. store. He was hospitalized at Steubenville Nov. 24 after a fall on the street there.

He and his wife yesterday testified he returned home from Steubenville, was placed under a physician's care, and later was hospitalized at Wheeling, where he was given treatment by Dr. Arthur Osterman, a neurologist and psychiatrist, for loss of memory and nervousness.

Cites Failing Memory

Cunningham said he could not recall much from the time of his trial for a Smith & Phillips Co. burglary in October to the time of his fall at Steubenville.

A jury was unable to reach a verdict in the Smith & Phillips trial for Cunningham and Robert Carroll, another ex-officer.

Yesterday afternoon, Cunningham said he could only remember there was a "hung jury" in the Smith & Phillips trial, and could not recall anything after that until he found himself in a hospital room at Steubenville.

He said he could not remember the Burbick trial in which he and Jerry Raimond, ex-special officer, were convicted, or anything about conversations with Donald Lockhart, a drug clerk at the McBurney Pharmacy to whom he is accused of attempting to offer money.

Lockhart testified Monday Cunningham had offered to make up the difference between juror's pay and his salary. A tape recording of a talk between Lockhart and Cunningham — in which the ex-officer can be heard to say, "I would be willing to pay my share" —is key evidence of the prosecution in the trial.

Under questioning by Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, his counsel, Cunningham said he could not recall talking to Lockhart in the McBurney Pharmacy Nov. 9 about jury duty, or of hearing the tape recording of the talk which was first played in the Burbick trial.

Wife Takes Stand

"The first time I heard that recording was yesterday," Cunningham stated.

"Have you tried to recall those things?" Alexander asked.

"Yes, sir," the defendant replied. He later said he didn't know he had been convicted in the Burbick trial until he came home from the hospital.

Late yesterday morning, Mrs. Cunningham said her husband had to be told about things which had happened during his mental lapse.

She said his loss of memory did not apply just to personal things. She said he did not realize some

Won't Back If Pressed, He Declares

Declines To Say If A-Weapons Would Be Used In War

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the United States has no intention of fighting a ground war in Europe.

At a news conference, however, he declined to say flatly that nuclear weapons would be used by American forces in the event the Soviets start shooting.

He said firmly the United States will do whatever needs to be done to protect its rights and responsibilities in West Berlin.

This government, he said, will never back up in the face of Soviet pressure there.

At the same time he said the free world is not going to become hysterical and go off half-cocked over the Berlin crisis.

Eisenhower said he believes the American public is more soberly aware of dangers in the Berlin situation than a lot of people around Washington.

A reporter had asked the President if he feels that the people recognize the dangers in Soviet Premeir Nikita Khrushchev's demand for the withdrawal of Allied troops from West Berlin by May 27.

The country knows how serious the situation is or it wouldn't be voting all the money that is being required for defense, Eisenhower promptly replied.

He added, however, that those who are advocating still greater defense spending should have the courage to back higher taxes to pay for it.

Eisenhower was asked for his reaction to Khrushchev's proposal for a four-power guard in West Berlin.

The President replied with some asperity that he doesn't ever expect to be in the business of reacting instantly to one of Mr. Khrushchev's wisecracks or whatever the Soviet Premier calls them.

The free world is going to use the same democratic procedure that the United States uses in dealing with such problems, Eisenhower said. He said that is the process of debate before decision.

Eisenhower was asked if he thinks the Soviets should be given a plain warning that nuclear war might result if the Communists cut off access to West Berlin.

He replied that he doesn't know how you can free anything with nuclear weapons. He said that if there is any push in the direction of real hostilities over Berlin it is going to come from the side of the Soviets.

Eisenhower said he can't believe that anybody is going to make hostilities of this kind a reality.

Iraq-Nasser Relations Dip To New Low

Some Rebel Army Officers Reported Fleeing To Syria

The Baghdad government claimed it had smashed the revolt against Premier Abdel Karim Kassem and reports spread that some of the rebel army officers were trying to escape across the Syrian border. Other reports said fighting was still going on, apparently by desperate holdouts trying to flee the country.

The U.A.R.'s semi-official Middle East News Agency charged that Iraqi planes had shot up a Syrian border village. The agency also reported that Iraqi planes had strafed several Iraqi villages in the Mosul area near the border.

Kassem meanwhile expelled 10 U.A.R. diplomats assigned to the Baghdad embassy, declaring they were a menace to public safety. The Baghdad correspondent of the Middle East News Agency also was ordered out.

Nine of the ousted diplomats arrived in Cairo and reported that the Baghdad government apparently was still digging in for a fight.

First reports of the revolt made clear that the rebellious army officers wanted to swing the Iraqi government toward Nasser and opposed the growing influence of the Iraqi communists on Kassem.

Military governor Ahmed Saleh el Abdi in a broadcast over Baghdad radio blamed a "foreign power" for sparking the rebellion. It was plain he referred to the U.A.R. Street demonstrations staged in Baghdad to support Kassem turned into anti-Egyptian rallies.

Nasser's news agency accused Iraq of taking "provocative measures against the U.A.R." As yet, however, there was no retaliatory expulsion of Iraqi diplomats from Cairo.

Diplomatic informants said the rebels had pulled out of the northern oil center of Mosul where Col. Abdel Wahhab Shawaf and a group of pro-Nasser followers launched the rebellion Sunday.

Nasser Attacks Iraq On 'Hostile Policy'

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic accused Iraq Premier Abdel Karim Kassem today of adopting a hostile policy toward the U.A.R. and of changing the original course of the Iraqi revolution.

Speaking to crowds of demonstrators who chanted "Kassem is a traitor," Nasser launched his first direct attack on the leader of Iraq's Communist-influenced government.

Khrushchev's Cited On Many Berlin Plans

Diplomatic Action Fast, But He Often Contradicts Himself

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every few days now Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev comes up with a new proposal for dealing with the Berlin crisis.

His record is impressive for imagination in fast diplomatic footwork. Sometimes he even seems to contradict himself.

But in the midst of the confusion, which he may deliberately seek in order to obscure the real issues, one fact stands out clearly. He is still pursuing his original purpose, announced just four months ago, to try to force the Western powers to give up their position in West Berlin.

This showcase of Western Democracy and prosperity in the heart of Communist East Germany is an irritant. He may be willing to risk war to remove it.

In the ultimate showdown, most Western officials are convinced Khrushchev will pull back before plunging the world into war. But they also think he will go very close to the brink if he has to in order to test Western determination to hold fast in Berlin.

Khrushchev's latest maneuver came in a speech at Berlin Monday. He said then that the Western powers might keep small garrisons of their forces in West Berlin if they agreed to make that city a "free city" and if a Soviet garrison was also stationed there.

This suggestion seemed to reverse the line he had taken in a note to the United States, Britain, France and West Germany on Nov. 27, when he first made his "free city" proposition and talked about demilitarizing West Berlin.

That was the second move in a series which began Nov. 10, when Khrushchev announced that the Western powers must get out of the German city and said that the Soviet Union intended to turn over its occupation functions in East Berlin to the East German Communist regime. The announcement immediately raised the specter of a new Berlin blockade.

As a result of diplomatic exchanges since that time, there is now conditional agreement on an early foreign ministers conference to deal with German problems.

There also is the prospect of a summit meeting later in the year, bringing together Khrushchev and President Eisenhower along with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle.

Jumps Sidewalk, Plows Into Crowd At Busy Intersection

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A bustling intersection in downtown Pittsburgh became a scene of horror Tuesday as a commuter bus jumped a sidewalk and plowed into a crowd during the evening rush hour.

Two persons were killed and 16 were injured, four seriously.

The Brentwood Motor Coach Co. bus was approaching a knot of waiting passengers at Smithfield Street and Forbes Avenue when it veered out of control. The driver said his air brakes failed.

The bus climbed the curb, cut down a fire alarm pole and a street light then tore into the crowd and nosed against a plate glass display window of Kaufmann's department store.

Three of the screaming victims were flung through the window. Several others were trapped under the bus.

One of those killed was Sam Hood, 40, a reporter and art critic for the Pittsburgh Press.

Also killed was Mrs. Sally Flynn Strait, 54, of nearby Baldwin. She was head cashier at the Roosevelt Hotel.

The stunned bus driver, Jay Lane, was treated for minor injuries and released on $10,000 bond pending an inquest on a technical charge of manslaughter.

Lane was so distraught he was re-admitted to a hospital shortly after midnight suffering shock.

Ex-City Man Arrested To Face Holdup Charge

Charles Chirenza, 23, formerly of East Liverpool, was apprehended Tuesday in New York by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on a fugitive warrant for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution filed by Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan.

Chirenza and Paul Allen Barnhart, 19, of 672 Woodlawn Ave. are accused of armed robbery of Paul K. Welch of Wellsville. Welch picked up the two hitch-hiking on W. 8th St. They forced him to drive into the country, where they robbed him of $37.50, police said.

Barnhart was bound over to the Grand Jury Feb. 13 under $2,000 bond by County Judge James L. MacDonald. VanFossan said he will extradite Chirenza if he will not wave extradition from New York state.

F. E. Grosshans Taken Suddenly

Frank E. Grosshans, who served 16 years as Municipal Court judge before his retirement in 1950, died suddenly of a heart attack Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. as he walked back to his home at 405 Jackson St. after a trip to a bank on business, followed by a round of chats with friends. He was 91.

Judge Grosshans was stricken on the sidewalk two doors from his home as he helped a woman motorist put coins into a parking meter. Leo Wilson, his next-door neighbor, notified police, who summoned an ambulance, but the veteran jurist was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital.

It was the judge's first trip outside his home in two weeks, as he had been confined since Feb. 25 with influenza. He left his home about 10 a. m. yesterday, expecting to have his usual series of sidewalk talks with friends and acquaintances after finishing his business at the bank.

Only moments before he was stricken, he had been talking with City Auditor H. J. Gallimore and Richard O. Wilson, Market St. printer, in Peach Alley outside City Hall. His home is a block away.

Retired In 1950

Judge Grosshans retired voluntarily from the Municipal Court bench on Dec. 31, 1950, after rounding out his fourth four-year term. He was succeeded by Judge George L. Brokaw, the incumbent. Judge Grosshans started his long service on the bench in 1934, when he succeeded the late Judge Harry Brokaw, brother of the present judge. He later was elected to serve three more consecutive terms.

Judge Grosshans was the third to sit on the court's bench. In addition to the late Mr. Brokaw, he had been preceded by the late Jesse Hanley.

Judge Grosshans would have been 92 on June 20. He was born in Fredericktown June 20, 1867. His father settled in the small community after coming to East Liverpool from the Alsace-Lorraine district of France. On his mother's side, the family tree goes back to the 1790's when her grandmoth-

Ohio House Approves Bill To Permit Quail Hunting

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Ohio sportsmen Tuesday won House approval of a bill to permit quail hunting in the state for the first time in 46 years.

Opponents, led by Reps. Bernice MacKenzie (D-Stark) and Clara Weisenborn (R-Montgomery) staged a valiant fight to extend the present status of the popular bird for another 10 years.

But sponsors of the bill, including Reps. Guy C. Hiner (R-Stark), Paul Siple (D-Lawrence) and F. K. Cassel (R-Wyandot), carried the day by 93-36 vote.

The same basic arguments that have resounded through the legislative chambers every biennium for years on the controversial subject were repeated in the debate marked by humor as well as heartfelt appeal on both sides.

As passed, the bill would permit quail hunting on land owned or controlled by the state and on private land under agreement between the owner and the state.

The Wild Life Council would set the season and bag limit.

The opponents' major move was an amendment offered by Mrs. Weisenborn to extend to 1969 the present law which places the quail on the game bird list for breeding purposes only. This provision has been in effect since 1949 but will expire next October if no action is taken.

That would permit a hunting season with no specific statutory limitations.

Mrs. MacKenzie, speaking in favor of the amendment, cited the widespread controversy over the issue, which has evoked more mail for many legislators than any other subject before the session.

"This session of the legislature is faced with the danger of digging one-half of its own grave politically," she said. "It is very apt to go

Legislature Spurs Action On Budget Bill

Senate Adoption Due On Resolution For Road Bonds Voting

CHARLESTON — With work piling up ominously and the adjournment deadline coming up at midnight Saturday, both houses of the Legislature met in morning sessions today.

The budget bill awaited the attention of both houses. Each chamber put off amendment action on its version of the budget until today, although the House bill had been advanced to passage stage with permission to amend at that level.

Up for adoption in the Senate was a resolution for a vote of the state's citizens in 1960 on authorizing issuance of 170 million dollars worth of road bonds.

The proposed constitutional amendment also would revoke authority for further issuance of bonds under the 1920 "Good Roads Amendment."

The 1920 amendment set up a 50-million-dollar revolving issue, meaning that as bonds issued under the amendment are retired, new ones may be issued within the 50-million limit. The proposed 170-million-dollar issue would be non-revolving and no more than 20 million dollars worth of bonds could be sold in any one year.

A floor fight was in prospect in the House over a Finance Committee attempt to put through what in effect would be a gross income tax bill. The vehicle for the attempt was a relatively modest Senate-passed bill to extend the gross sales tax at a 1 per cent rate to professional incomes in excess of $5,000.

House Finance has proposed amendments which would apply the 1 per cent tax, still with the $5,000 exemption, to incomes in general - wages and salaries as well as professional incomes. The committee amendments also would raise the gross sales tax rates of 12 classifications of business and industry.

Floor action on the amendments was held over from yesterday, although the bill now is on passage stage.

Ike Says U.S. Defense Program Is Adequate

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today those advocating greater defense spending should have the courage to demand higher taxes.

And, at a news conference, Eisenhower repeated several times that he believes the nation's defense program is adequate to deal with the situation.

With much emphasis, he cautioned against letting the Soviet Union lure the Western Allies into a ground war in Europe.

Such a war would be a miscalculation on the part of the Allies in the light of Russia's great manpower reserves, he said.

Eisenhower advanced these views in standing pat on Defense Department plans to cut back Army strength from the current 900,000 men to 870,000, and to trim the Marine level by 25,000 men to a new total of 175,000.

Iraq-Nasser Relations Dip To New Low

The Baghdad government claimed it had smashed the revolt against Premier Abdel Karim Kassem and reports spread that some of the rebel army officers were trying to escape across the Syrian border. Other reports said fighting was still going on, apparently by desperate holdouts trying to flee the country.

The U.A.R.'s semi-official Middle East News Agency charged that Iraqi planes had shot up a Syrian border village. The agency also reported that Iraqi planes had strafed several Iraqi villages in the Mosul area near the border.

Nine of the ousted diplomats arrived in Cairo and reported that the Baghdad government apparently was still digging in for a fight.

First reports of the revolt made clear that the rebellious army officers wanted to swing the Iraqi government toward Nasser and opposed the growing influence of the Iraqi communists on Kassem.

Military governor Ahmed Saleh el Abdi in a broadcast over Baghdad radio blamed a "foreign power" for sparking the rebellion. It was plain he referred to the U.A.R. Street demonstrations staged in Baghdad to support Kassem turned into anti-Egyptian rallies.

Nasser's news agency accused Iraq of taking "provocative measures against the U.A.R." As yet, however, there was no retaliatory expulsion of Iraqi diplomats from Cairo.

Diplomatic informants said the rebels had pulled out of the northern oil center of Mosul where Col. Abdel Wahhab Shawaf and a group of pro-Nasser followers launched the rebellion Sunday.

F. E. Grosshans Taken Suddenly

Frank E. Grosshans, who served 16 years as Municipal Court judge before his retirement in 1950, died suddenly of a heart attack Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. as he walked back to his home at 405 Jackson St. after a trip to a bank on business, followed by a round of chats with friends. He was 91.

Judge Grosshans was stricken on the sidewalk two doors from his home as he helped a woman motorist put coins into a parking meter. Leo Wilson, his next-door neighbor, notified police, who summoned an ambulance, but the veteran jurist was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital.

It was the judge's first trip outside his home in two weeks, as he had been confined since Feb. 25 with influenza. He left his home about 10 a. m. yesterday, expecting to have his usual series of sidewalk talks with friends and acquaintances after finishing his business at the bank.

Only moments before he was stricken, he had been talking with City Auditor H. J. Gallimore and Richard O. Wilson, Market St. printer, in Peach Alley outside City Hall. His home is a block away.

Retired In 1950

Judge Grosshans retired voluntarily from the Municipal Court bench on Dec. 31, 1950, after rounding out his fourth four-year term. He was succeeded by Judge George L. Brokaw, the incumbent. Judge Grosshans started his long service on the bench in 1934, when he succeeded the late Judge Harry Brokaw, brother of the present judge. He later was elected to serve three more consecutive terms.

Judge Grosshans was the third to sit on the court's bench. In addition to the late Mr. Brokaw, he had been preceded by the late Jesse Hanley.

Judge Grosshans would have been 92 on June 20. He was born in Fredericktown June 20, 1867. His father settled in the small community after coming to East Liverpool from the Alsace-Lorraine district of France. On his mother's side, the family tree goes back to the 1790's when her grandmoth-

Ohio House Approves Bill To Permit Quail Hunting

By DUANE E. CROFT
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Ohio sportsmen Tuesday won House approval of a bill to permit quail hunting in the state for the first time in 46 years.

Opponents, led by Reps. Bernice MacKenzie (D-Stark) and Clara Weisenborn (R-Montgomery) staged a valiant fight to extend the present status of the popular bird for another 10 years.

But sponsors of the bill, including Reps. Guy C. Hiner (R-Stark), Paul Siple (D-Lawrence) and F. K. Cassel (R-Wyandot), carried the day by 93-36 vote.

The same basic arguments that have resounded through the legislative chambers every biennium for years on the controversial subject were repeated in the debate marked by humor as well as heartfelt appeal on both sides.

As passed, the bill would permit quail hunting on land owned or controlled by the state and on private land under agreement between the owner and the state.

The Wild Life Council would set the season and bag limit.

The opponents' major move was an amendment offered by Mrs. Weisenborn to extend to 1969 the present law which places the quail on the game bird list for breeding purposes only. This provision has been in effect since 1949 but will expire next October if no action is taken.

That would permit a hunting season with no specific statutory limitations.

Mrs. MacKenzie, speaking in favor of the amendment, cited the widespread controversy over the issue, which has evoked more mail for many legislators than any other subject before the session.

"This session of the legislature is faced with the danger of digging one-half of its own grave politically," she said. "It is very apt to go

Legislature Spurs Action On Budget Bill

Senate Adoption Due On Resolution For Road Bonds Voting

CHARLESTON — With work piling up ominously and the adjournment deadline coming up at midnight Saturday, both houses of the Legislature met in morning sessions today.

The budget bill awaited the attention of both houses. Each chamber put off amendment action on its version of the budget until today, although the House bill had been advanced to passage stage with permission to amend at that level.

Up for adoption in the Senate was a resolution for a vote of the state's citizens in 1960 on authorizing issuance of 170 million dollars worth of road bonds.

The proposed constitutional amendment also would revoke authority for further issuance of bonds under the 1920 "Good Roads Amendment."

The 1920 amendment set up a 50-million-dollar revolving issue, meaning that as bonds issued under the amendment are retired, new ones may be issued within the 50-million limit. The proposed 170-million-dollar issue would be non-revolving and no more than 20 million dollars worth of bonds could be sold in any one year.

A floor fight was in prospect in the House over a Finance Committee attempt to put through what in effect would be a gross income tax bill. The vehicle for the attempt was a relatively modest Senate-passed bill to extend the gross sales tax at a 1 per cent rate to professional incomes in excess of $5,000.

House Finance has proposed amendments which would apply the 1 per cent tax, still with the $5,000 exemption, to incomes in general - wages and salaries as well as professional incomes. The committee amendments also would raise the gross sales tax rates of 12 classifications of business and industry.

Floor action on the amendments was held over from yesterday, although the bill now is on passage stage.

Chamber's Work For 1959 Aired At Board's Session

Major projects which the Chamber of Commerce will undertake this year were discussed at a meeting of the Chamber's Board of Trustees Tuesday afternoon.

The board voted to sponsor a communitywide spring cleanup campaign with the aid of other civic organizations.

T. Fred Edwards, president, announced committees for 1959 will be named about mid-March. He reported on a "committee preference poll" which the Chamber completed last weekend. Each member was mailed a form on which he was asked to indicate the committees with which he would be willing to serve this year.

Edwards said he expects to call a meeting of all committee chairmen soon to discuss the Chamber's 1959 program of work.

Atty. Francis H. Lang submitted a report for the roads and streets committee. A report also was presented on a recent meeting of the East Liverpool Merchants Association, when a plan to change the organization structure was approved.

E. R. Chandler, secretary-manager, reported on a statewide conference on industrial development at Columbus Feb. 18. He also detailed recent developments in the program of the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council.

The board received a letter inviting it to send a delegation to a Chamber leaders' workshop April 9 at Akron. The membership application of the new Sears Roebuck & Co. catalog store was accepted.

Jefferson Man Held As Unlicensed Peddler

A charge of peddling without a license against an unemployed Jefferson County man was continued today in Municipal Court after Judge George L. Brokaw indicated the Glen Robbins resident may not be violating a city law.

Gerald Kenneth Dailey, 31, was taken into custody Tuesday night on Broadway, accused of selling horseradish without first securing a city license. Dailey told Judge Brokaw this morning he has been out of work for several months and has been hawking the horseradish, which he produces himself, to make a living.

Judge Brokaw commented, "I'm not sure there's any violation," in continuing the case until Saturday at 8 a. m. The city law exempts farmers and producers selling produce grown or produced by them.

Women At Wellsville Schedule Dance May 2

The date for the annual spring dance was set by the Wellsville Women's Civic Club at a meeting Tuesday night in the Central Federal Savings & Loan Association.

The dance will be held May 2. The place has not been set. Bobby Caputo's orchestra of Monaca will play.

A proposed city building code was read. Mrs. Helen Welch presented members with copies of the code. The group voted to have the meeting dates of the organization placed on an activity calendar being prepared by the Central Methodist Church.

Mrs. Peggy Rawlings, president, conducted business. It was announced the club will spearhead the annual Cancer Drive in April. Lunch was served by Mrs. Mary Clark and Mrs. Betty Rager. The next meeting will be April 14.

Lions At Cumberland Hear Talk By Minister

Seven guests were present from the Chester club, including Jim Wallace, Tony Bernardi, George Durbin, Dino Rossi, John Abrams and Jerry D'Angelo. Nancy Clark of Broadman, who will be pianist in the club's minstrel show April 3, also was a guest.

Dave Jester of New Cumberland was accepted as a new member. Participants in the minstrel show will meet for practice Sunday afternoon at 1:30 in the Veterans of Foreign War home. Young Women's Club members also are participating.

The Budget And Its Requirements

The money requested would assure the start of a long-range program designed to meet many of the city's needs—including comprehensive street improvements.

It's no secret that revenue from present sources isn't sufficient to meet the proposed budget. Therefore, an additional source must be found. Council again appears ready to turn to a city income tax as the fairest and most logical way to provide the money—no other suggestions being offered during informal "open house" financial discussions which the legislators held within recent weeks.

In this connection, there have been hints that a rate lower than the previous eight-tenths of one per cent might be favored by some Councilmen. If this is the majority feeling, it raises the question of whether it would be advisable to slash the percentage now at the risk of being forced to ask for an increased figure later.

The fear of recurring boosts has been one of the stumbling blocks in the path of a city income tax wherever one has been brought up.

It's something for the administration and Council to consider as they go about the task of determining the final budget figures.

Assuming the tax becomes the final answer, the logical approach would seem to be to ask for the percentage that would provide the revenue needed for the services and improvements desired.

If this be eight-tenths of one per cent, ask for eight-tenths of one per cent. If less than eight-tenths would do the trick, then ask for less than eight-tenths.

Problem With No Easy Solution

An economics professor from University of Michigan told a Senate committee last week that one of 10 workers in Michigan would be unemployed through 1960. This 10 per cent rate would be an improvement over today's rate, which is higher than 15 per cent in Detroit.

His prediction was based on what he believed were certainties in the automotive industry — fewer juicy defense contracts, fewer auto companies, fewer parts suppliers, automation and continued decentralization of the industry.

In other words, unemployment in Michigan is a problem with no solution, like unemployment in the coal fields in Kentucky and West Virginia. These are two of the most dramatic examples of a tragedy being performed in varying degrees of intensity all over the country.

Business is improving. But employment is not improving. More work is being performed by fewer persons than were needed before the recession, because employers are under tremendous pressure to hold down their costs The automation bugaboo that industrial workers dread has been subsidized, in effect, by high wage rates that made automation attractive.

Not only has there been a net loss of jobs —the UAW claims Ford and General Motors are now producing more cars with fewer workers—but there has been an acute reduction of jobs for the semi-skilled and the unskilled.

Barring a wild boom of the kind in which everybody can get a job, many workers are unlikely ever to have steady employment again, with or without a shorter work week, which means in many cases that workers already employed merely do more work at overtime rates.

Yet, no one can be satisfied to say this is so and to accept it; there must be some way out of the dilemma. One possibility might be a stepped-up program of worker retaining, because skilled jobs are always looking for the right people to fill them. Another possiblity is a stepped-up expansion of service trades employment. And still another might be, if employes chose to use it, a slow-down in rising wage rates that have been forcing employers to turn to automation more eagerly than they would have turned to it if production costs had stayed on an even keel.

Sticks And Stones But Not Words

One of the oddities of the times is the confident attitude of labor leaders telling Congress what to do this session.

These are the men who supposedly have been given something to think about by the disclosures of the McClellan investigation.

They are the men whose differences of opinion "inside the lodge" are expected to make more news for the nation and more grief for industrialists than anything in sight at the moment.

They are the men who have been forced to admit time and time again that they have only tenuous control over the organizations they speak for, yet who speak in the corridors and cloakrooms of the U.S. Capitol with voices of thunder.

Congressmen, moreover, listen to them as if their word had become the judgment of Doomsday. Representatives who have been sent there to speak for the states call the labor leaders into consultation before making up their minds.

And the labor leaders, to make sure they are not forgotten, give orders to their followers to show up in Washington by the thousands to buttonhole the decision-makers of representative democracy, to tell them what a minority expects them to do — with no questions asked.

In the 1959 battle over labor reform, a White House bill is in danger of being pushed into the discard on the orders of men whose own affairs are in such a mess that the McClellan investigation could run on forever and never catch up to the abuses of unionism they have been unable or unwilling to stop.

"Sticks and stones can break my bones, but words can never hurt me."

This ancient chant has been brought up to date:

"Accusations and unanswered questions can give me a bad reputation, but they can never hurt me."

Frank E. Grosshans

"Memories of a long, full life." Those were the words of Frank E. Grosshans when he once was asked what things he held most precious in his busy career.

The remarks were made several years ago just before his retirement after 16 years as Municipal Court judge here

Few have had the "long, full life" which Judge Grosshans was privileged to enjoy before his death yesterday at the age of 91.

He was one of those blessed to the very end with a keen intellect, a rich sense of humor, a love for his fellow men and a deep-rooted devotion to the community which had been his home for so many years.

To most, Frank E. Grosshans will be remembered only as the dignified gentleman who sat behind the bench in Municipal Court for so long a time. But to those who knew him well, he will be remembered also as a respected citizen and a treasured friend.

His was truly the "long, full life" of which he so proudly spoke.

"What have we done?" asked the moon and sun,
"To be bombarded by everyone;
We to the earth have been more than fair . . .
What kind of guys have they got down there!"

"I've been up here since the start of time;
What," asked the moon, "is my sudden crime?
Songs have I stirred in those earthly jerks."
"Duck," bade the sun, "or you'll get the works!"

"Over the ages I've lit the night,"
Muttered the moon, "and was treated right;
Lovers I've helped with my magic spell."
"Dodge!" cried the sun, "or you won't stay well."

"Love," said the moon, "I have aided much;
Romeo-Juliet knew my touch;
I've done my stuff for romantic kids;
Where are my frineds? Have they flipped their lids?"

"Pal," said the sun, "it's a bitter cup;
What do you say if we both give up?"
"No," said the moon with a weary smile,
MAYBE WE BOTH CAN HOLD OUT A WHILE."

All Together, Now!

The Coal Miners Are Getting Hungry

By Victor Riesel

In Washington offices crackling with tension, many an observer of the nation's new "poverty pockets" expects his jangling telephone to bring grim news of violent clashes over mighty scarce jobs.

Victor Riesel

Already in one giant southern plant, a band of men stopped other unionists from working on new installations—literally drove them out with fists and chains. Now weary men, racing against time, expect the next word of violence to flash up momentarily from certain coal fields. For the fact is that the aging giant, John L. Lewis, is recovering at home in Virginia far more swiftly than the sick old King Coal industry itself.

To realize what's happening in the mine patches we once watched so closely when John L. stalked the land, is to realize what's happening dramatically behind the scenes in those industries which are not hitched to the stars or to the planets.

THAT LITTLE golden ball we just heaved around the sun is exerting a far greater influence on us people than we realize. While the earthbound coal industry and its union shrink, the power inside labor and, therefore, inside our social and political life is shifting to such unons as the International Assn. of Machinists.

Its members are at Lockheed Aircraft's missile division, which is now working on an artist's conception of the one-man, one-seater nose cone, our first manned space ship. It is the Machinists (IAM) membership which also staffs the astrodynamics division of Convair at San Diego. That firm provides most of the Atlas—which hurls the golden spheres into sun orbits.

Meanwhile, although old giants never die, they sure shrink. It came as a shock to some observers to learn from the Mine Union itself that there are, for example, only 175,000 coal diggers in the pits and around the shafts today. Thus less than half of the 400,000 miners of yesterday are working today.

They are but a handful of the original 750,000 men who made up the mighty empire John L. took over in 1923—an empire to which presidents of the U.S. came hat in hand—sometimes doffed in respect for Mr. Lewis and sometimes upside down in respect for the political handouts distributed by the great union.

WHAT REDUCED this once powerful outfit? Of course, there are fuel substitutes. But most important there are machines which can dig the coal and move it faster than we can use it now. There will soon be available a mechanical monster described by the experts as a remotely controlled, continuous mining machine.

One man, in an electronic center above ground, will guide the coal-chewing robot to underground seams. It will dig the black fuel and load it on a heavy-duty continuous transport system which will move it to an outside station with no touch of human hands.

Some day soon, such coal will be automatically crushed at the outside depot and shoved into a pipeline. Then water will move it hundreds of miles directly to the industrial consumer—just like natural gas.

There is such a coal pipeline covering 108 miles of eastern Ohio. It runs from a giant coal company in Belmont County to the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. generating plant in Eastlake. The pipeline can move the equivalent of 21,000 railroad hopper cars annually.

Though the miners' jobs have been cut, the treasuries of their once huge union have increased. Mr. Lewis runs a powerful Washington bank. His welfare fund pays out well over $100,000 a year. The UMW has some 50 million dollars in the central kitty.

But that money won't make jobs. It's the inheritance of past greatness. In some areas, scores of thousands of miners are jobless. They love their union. But they and their families have to eat. If help doesn't come from some place, they'll dig coal for whoever offers them work at whatever wage they can get. Then the clashes will come.

They'll fight just as their counterparts in other industries around the land have fought unpublicized battles over available work. We live in a new era of poverty pockets amidst plenty. Some of our neighbors need help. They should get it.

Policy Without Proof

By Raymond Moley

It is apparently the settled policy of this congressional majority that with large deficit spending the compensating revenues can be gotten from a faster rate of increase of the gross national product. This has been aptly called the "spend-yourself-rich" theory.

Since this Congress with its liberal majority will shape the platform and argument of the Democratic party in 1960, the Cabinet committee studying inflation and the President's 44-member committee of business men considering economic trends might well draw the issue on this specific point.

If they do, they will find plenty of material to disprove such a concept of national economic planning. Certainly, there are no historical facts to prove it.

The data on the subject in what follows were prepared for me by a competent economic analyst, Dr. Julius Hirsch.

The Hirsch figures go back to the period between 1903 and 1913—years of healthy growth in national wealth and general prosperity, with the exception of parts of 1907 and 1908. In 1903, the national income was $19,400,000,000. In 1913, it was 31 billion. This represented in the average of those years a growth of almost 6 per cent per year.

NOTE THAT THIS was without any purposeful government spending in those years, because no one seriously thought of the new economic theory of spending to increase wealth. During those years there was some inflation, however, since the cost of living increased by about 7 per cent. Employment improved. In 1903 there were about one million unemployed. In 1913 the figure was the same but because of a growing population there was a great increase of the working force.

After the abnormal years of the World War and the short boom and depression that followed, prosperity returned in 1922.

Then from 1922 to 1929 the Gross National Product (a calculation devised at that time to supplant the national income figures) increased from $69,900,000,000 to $99,400,000,000—on average more than 6 per cent per year.

During that period taxes were reduced and a considerable part of the national debt was paid off. The cost of living remained practically the same. Unemployment was at a minimum throughout. Again, there was no urge to increase government spending to stimulate the economy. Politics had not discovered economics. Nor had some economists such as John Maynard Kehnes yet launched the get-rich-through-spending theory.

Now let us look at some of the years during which some of the "new" economic theorists such as Leon Keyserling were in the saddle, with President Truman taking his cue from them.

IN THE YEARS 1946-1949 inclusive, the Gross National Product increased in inflated prices by almost 23 per cent, but in "constant" prices (which means in prices of 1947) only by 3.5 per cent. In inflated prices, the average increase per year was 7.6 per cent, but in real progress it was an average of 1.1 per cent per year.

The cost of living during this period went up by almost 21 per cent, or 6.9 per cent a year on average. Unemployment also increased. This was in spite of fairly high federal expenditures. At the end of 1948, recession started.

Then came the Korean War. Federal spending increased from $39,600,000,000 in 1950 to 74 billion in 1953. In those years the GNP during heavy inflation rose by almost 28 per cent, or by more than 9 per cent a year.

However, measured in constant dollars the GNP in those years rose only by 11.4 per cent—3.7 per cent a year. Our federal expenditures increased by 87 per cent in the whole period, or by 29 per cent yearly.

This was a large price to pay in federal expenditures to produce so small a GNP. But inflation took its toll. The cost of living went up 14 per cent. Thus, even during a war the increase in the resources subject to taxation fell far behind federal spending, while the chief burden fell, through inflation, on fixed incomes and other stationary values.

The only possible conclusion is that while inflation can be accelerated by federal spending, the tax resources cannot keep pace. The result is felt by taxpayers and by holders of fixed values.

Government spending policies can produce inflation but they cannot produce real wealth to equalize the losses involved in such inflation.

A Calm Tenseness

Algiers, long a pirates' paradise and still famed for its Casbah, has come to live casually with tension in recent years.

Residents of the troubled Algerian capital have been frisked by officers of the law at the entrances to department stores. They have seen bullet-proof vests for sale. They have watched helmeted soldiers patrolling with rifles. But despite the disquiet of Algieria's lingering rebellion, the people of Algiers go about their business with considerable calm.

In Algiers, two ways of life blend —and clash. Industrially oriented Europeans live near Arabs who have had little or no training. The Europeans have built roads, factories, hospitals and schools, but the country's rapidly - increasing population has largely offset the economic gain. Poverty has remained.

Algiers' eventful history goes back to Roman times. A small town called Icosium was located on the site. It had a Christian bishop as late as the fifth century. The town disappeared and North Africa passed under Moslem control.

Absentee Republicans

By David Lawrence

What Happened To The 8,600,000?

What happened to the 8,600,000 Republicans who voted in 1956 but didn't vote in 1958?

This is the puzzling question that is stirring the Republican party leaders as they strive now to write a platform designed to bring "conservative" and "non - conservative" groups together behind a single expression of party policy.

David Lawrence

At first glance, it might be assumed that most of the 8,600,000 Republicans voted Democratic and that, therefore, the Republican platform now might better imitate the Democrats. But a closer look at the Democratic total shows that most of the 8,600,000 Republicans couldn't have voted Democratic. For even if some of them did, this didn't make up for defections from the Democratic party. The total of all votes for the Democratic ticket for members of Congress throughout the nation in the last election was 4,200,000 less in the 1958 congressional elections than the party got in 1956 for members of Congress. Of this total who didn't vote, more than half were in the South. Thus, the loss in the North for the Democrats was about 1,700,000.

TWO FACTS, therefore, stand out. One is that both parties lost votes and, the other, that the Republicans had the larger loss.

But why, it may be asked, do fewer persons vote for members of Congress than for the presidential candidate? A drop-off in the total vote might be expected in an off-year election, because there is no single figure running for office at the top of the ticket but the real question is why the persons who actually go to the polls in a presidential election fail to vote at the same time for members of Congress.

Over a period of 60 years, the gap between the presidential vote and the congressional vote has been steadily widening, irrespective of party. Probably the answer is to be found in the gradual change that has been made in the nature of the ballots in different states and also in the growing population of each state and district. The voters simply do not know the candidates or what they stand for or else the separate ballot for Congress is tossed away by many voters. In the old days, presidential and congressional candidates were on the same ballot, which made it easier for straight-ticket voting.

It's a serious thing to see the voting drop off for members of Congress, who play such a dominant role in making the laws of the land.

It is often true that many voters are indifferent to national issues, or that many do not understand how such issues concretely apply to their own lives.

THE LOSSES apply also to residential districts where it would be assumed that the voters would be well informed on current issues. But just why so many millions do not vote Republican any more is a question that the Republicans themselves are debating.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is raising the whole question in a series of charts which, as chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, he is preparing to present to leaders and party workers in different parts of the country. These show that only in Arizona, where the Republican party adopted a "conservative" line, did the number of Republican votes actually increase in 1958 over the vote for members of Congress in 1956.

Lest it be thought that there is something special or unusual about the 1958 congressional election, the statistics show that the Republicans, while losing 8,600,000 votes as compared with 1956, had a total vote in 1958 of 3,800,000 less than in 1954. This happened even though the voting population in the country was increasing in the interval. It is true there also was a recession in 1954 but the fact remains that the Republicans didn't get out their vote, and the Democrats did.

THE DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS was due primarily to the superior machinery of the Democrats in getting out the vote, principally in the ranks of union-labor families. Thus, the public opinion polls show that in 1958 the labor vote divided 65 per cent to the Democrats and 35 per cent to the Republicans, which is almost exactly what it was two years before in the Eisenhower election.

This means that, as the Democrats got their vote to the polls and the Republicans didn't, the labor vote, being normal, swelled the totals for the Democrats.

The advantage the Democrats have in a labor-union political aparatus that costs many millions of dollars is plain to see. Unless the Republicans find ways of getting out their "conservative" vote, the Congress will be more and more dominated by the "pro-labor" and "pro-radical" blocs which believe in more and more governmental control of everything except their own group activities. A counterpart of the British Socialist Labor party will then emerge in the United States.

Don't Knock March

By Truman Twill

Except for the happenstance that I was born in March, I have no reason to be more partial to it than September, say, or July.

But as an instinctive champion of the underdog, I resent the way March is slandered by climatic critics. They have made it their favorite whipping boy of the months.

They say the wind blows too hard and that when the wind blows it is too cold.

They complain about the thawing and freezing, which is hard on growing things, mainly rose bushes.

They are put out because March is a month of sickness and misery —the end of the lines for people who finally run out of gas and succumb to viruses and microbes.

They wail when it rains, which it does more frequently than not. When it snows, they claim they are being victimized beyond reason.

They grow impatient because the things that are not going to occur until April anyway do not occur prematurely in March. To hear them tell it, March should mark the beginning of spring fever, when in fact it is famous only for the winter fantods.

They feel aggrieved when gales prune their trees for nothing and blow shingles off the roof of the house. They do not like it when their weather-weakened TV masts are bent over and blown askew.

They regard every sleet storm, blizzard, deluge and gust as a personal insult. In defiance, they buy some onion sets to prove that nature can be defied, and for what bitter satisfaction they can find in probing the inhospitable earth they bury sweet peas and some lettuce seed. But they have nothing good to say about March.

To hear its critics talk about it, no one would guess that it is the most important month of the year, not only because it is the birthday month of so many outstanding men and women but because it is the month when things start to grow.

This is as it should be — this growing — because from time immemorial March has ushered in the lifetimes of some of the sweetest, most deserving, most farsighted, most useful people who ever lived.

They — we — are the salt of the human race. Our heritage has made us more understanding, more perceptive, gentler and wiser than the ordinary run of people born in less favored months.

Because we are arithmetically obvious, being the offspring of parents who began to begat us in the preceding June, the month of weddings and flowers, it is our happy lot to be in harmony with the human race.

We have special insight into the foibles and follies of less privileged humans born in lesser months.

We are rugged, too, because it has been proved medically that babies born at the end of winter gain enough momentum in the first few months of life to withstand the blistering heat of their first summer without wilting.

Everything about our birth in March is in our favor, and we resent the way critics slander it. They should guard their tongues.

They are the men who have been forced to admit time and time again that they have only tenuous control over the organizations they speak for, yet who speak in the corridors and cloakrooms of the U.S. Capitol with voices of thunder.

Congressmen, moreover, listen to them as if their word had become the judgment of Doomsday. Representatives who have been sent there to speak for the states call the labor leaders into consultation before making up their minds.

And the labor leaders, to make sure they are not forgotten, give orders to their followers to show up in Washington by the thousands to buttonhole the decision-makers of representative democracy, to tell them what a minority expects them to do — with no questions asked.

In the 1959 battle over labor reform, a White House bill is in danger of being pushed into the discard on the orders of men whose own affairs are in such a mess that the McClellan investigation could run on forever and never catch up to the abuses of unionism they have been unable or unwilling to stop.

"Sticks and stones can break my bones, but words can never hurt me."

This ancient chant has been brought up to date:

"Accusations and unanswered questions can give me a bad reputation, but they can never hurt me."

Frank E. Grosshans

"Memories of a long, full life." Those were the words of Frank E. Grosshans when he once was asked what things he held most precious in his busy career.

The remarks were made several years ago just before his retirement after 16 years as Municipal Court judge here

Few have had the "long, full life" which Judge Grosshans was privileged to enjoy before his death yesterday at the age of 91.

He was one of those blessed to the very end with a keen intellect, a rich sense of humor, a love for his fellow men and a deep-rooted devotion to the community which had been his home for so many years.

To most, Frank E. Grosshans will be remembered only as the dignified gentleman who sat behind the bench in Municipal Court for so long a time. But to those who knew him well, he will be remembered also as a respected citizen and a treasured friend.

His was truly the "long, full life" of which he so proudly spoke.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

"What have we done?" asked the moon and sun,
"To be bombarded by everyone;
We to the earth have been more than fair . . .
What kind of guys have they got down there!"

II

"I've been up here since the start of time;
What," asked the moon, "is my sudden crime?
Songs have I stirred in those earthly jerks."

III

"Over the ages I've lit the night,"
Muttered the moon, "and was treated right;
Lovers I've helped with my magic spell."

IV

"Love," said the moon, "I have aided much;
Romeo-Juliet knew my touch;
I've done my stuff for romantic kids;

V

"Pal," said the sun, "it's a bitter cup;
What do you say if we both give up?"
"No," said the moon with a weary smile,
MAYBE WE BOTH CAN HOLD OUT A WHILE."

All Together, Now!

The Coal Miners Are Getting Hungry

By Victor Riesel

In Washington offices crackling with tension, many an observer of the nation's new "poverty pockets" expects his jangling telephone to bring grim news of violent clashes over mighty scarce jobs.

Victor Riesel

Already in one giant southern plant, a band of men stopped other unionists from working on new installations—literally drove them out with fists and chains. Now weary men, racing against time, expect the next word of violence to flash up momentarily from certain coal fields. For the fact is that the aging giant, John L. Lewis, is recovering at home in Virginia far more swiftly than the sick old King Coal industry itself.

To realize what's happening in the mine patches we once watched so closely when John L. stalked the land, is to realize what's happening dramatically behind the scenes in those industries which are not hitched to the stars or to the planets.

THAT LITTLE golden ball we just heaved around the sun is exerting a far greater influence on us people than we realize. While the earthbound coal industry and its union shrink, the power inside labor and, therefore, inside our social and political life is shifting to such unons as the International Assn. of Machinists.

Its members are at Lockheed Aircraft's missile division, which is now working on an artist's conception of the one-man, one-seater nose cone, our first manned space ship. It is the Machinists (IAM) membership which also staffs the astrodynamics division of Convair at San Diego. That firm provides most of the Atlas—which hurls the golden spheres into sun orbits.

Meanwhile, although old giants never die, they sure shrink. It came as a shock to some observers to learn from the Mine Union itself that there are, for example, only 175,000 coal diggers in the pits and around the shafts today. Thus less than half of the 400,000 miners of yesterday are working today.

They are but a handful of the original 750,000 men who made up the mighty empire John L. took over in 1923—an empire to which presidents of the U.S. came hat in hand—sometimes doffed in respect for Mr. Lewis and sometimes upside down in respect for the political handouts distributed by the great union.

WHAT REDUCED this once powerful outfit? Of course, there are fuel substitutes. But most important there are machines which can dig the coal and move it faster than we can use it now. There will soon be available a mechanical monster described by the experts as a remotely controlled, continuous mining machine.

One man, in an electronic center above ground, will guide the coal-chewing robot to underground seams. It will dig the black fuel and load it on a heavy-duty continuous transport system which will move it to an outside station with no touch of human hands.

Some day soon, such coal will be automatically crushed at the outside depot and shoved into a pipeline. Then water will move it hundreds of miles directly to the industrial consumer—just like natural gas.

There is such a coal pipeline covering 108 miles of eastern Ohio. It runs from a giant coal company in Belmont County to the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. generating plant in Eastlake. The pipeline can move the equivalent of 21,000 railroad hopper cars annually.

Though the miners' jobs have been cut, the treasuries of their once huge union have increased. Mr. Lewis runs a powerful Washington bank. His welfare fund pays out well over $100,000 a year. The UMW has some 50 million dollars in the central kitty.

But that money won't make jobs. It's the inheritance of past greatness. In some areas, scores of thousands of miners are jobless. They love their union. But they and their families have to eat. If help doesn't come from some place, they'll dig coal for whoever offers them work at whatever wage they can get. Then the clashes will come.

They'll fight just as their counterparts in other industries around the land have fought unpublicized battles over available work. We live in a new era of poverty pockets amidst plenty. Some of our neighbors need help. They should get it.

Policy Without Proof

By Raymond Moley

It is apparently the settled policy of this congressional majority that with large deficit spending the compensating revenues can be gotten from a faster rate of increase of the gross national product. This has been aptly called the "spend-yourself-rich" theory.

Since this Congress with its liberal majority will shape the platform and argument of the Democratic party in 1960, the Cabinet committee studying inflation and the President's 44-member committee of business men considering economic trends might well draw the issue on this specific point.

If they do, they will find plenty of material to disprove such a concept of national economic planning. Certainly, there are no historical facts to prove it.

The data on the subject in what follows were prepared for me by a competent economic analyst, Dr. Julius Hirsch.

The Hirsch figures go back to the period between 1903 and 1913—years of healthy growth in national wealth and general prosperity, with the exception of parts of 1907 and 1908. In 1903, the national income was $19,400,000,000. In 1913, it was 31 billion. This represented in the average of those years a growth of almost 6 per cent per year.

NOTE THAT THIS was without any purposeful government spending in those years, because no one seriously thought of the new economic theory of spending to increase wealth. During those years there was some inflation, however, since the cost of living increased by about 7 per cent. Employment improved. In 1903 there were about one million unemployed. In 1913 the figure was the same but because of a growing population there was a great increase of the working force.

After the abnormal years of the World War and the short boom and depression that followed, prosperity returned in 1922.

Then from 1922 to 1929 the Gross National Product (a calculation devised at that time to supplant the national income figures) increased from $69,900,000,000 to $99,400,000,000—on average more than 6 per cent per year.

During that period taxes were reduced and a considerable part of the national debt was paid off. The cost of living remained practically the same. Unemployment was at a minimum throughout. Again, there was no urge to increase government spending to stimulate the economy. Politics had not discovered economics. Nor had some economists such as John Maynard Kehnes yet launched the get-rich-through-spending theory.

Now let us look at some of the years during which some of the "new" economic theorists such as Leon Keyserling were in the saddle, with President Truman taking his cue from them.

IN THE YEARS 1946-1949 inclusive, the Gross National Product increased in inflated prices by almost 23 per cent, but in "constant" prices (which means in prices of 1947) only by 3.5 per cent. In inflated prices, the average increase per year was 7.6 per cent, but in real progress it was an average of 1.1 per cent per year.

The cost of living during this period went up by almost 21 per cent, or 6.9 per cent a year on average. Unemployment also increased. This was in spite of fairly high federal expenditures. At the end of 1948, recession started.

Then came the Korean War. Federal spending increased from $39,600,000,000 in 1950 to 74 billion in 1953. In those years the GNP during heavy inflation rose by almost 28 per cent, or by more than 9 per cent a year.

However, measured in constant dollars the GNP in those years rose only by 11.4 per cent—3.7 per cent a year. Our federal expenditures increased by 87 per cent in the whole period, or by 29 per cent yearly.

This was a large price to pay in federal expenditures to produce so small a GNP. But inflation took its toll. The cost of living went up 14 per cent. Thus, even during a war the increase in the resources subject to taxation fell far behind federal spending, while the chief burden fell, through inflation, on fixed incomes and other stationary values.

The only possible conclusion is that while inflation can be accelerated by federal spending, the tax resources cannot keep pace. The result is felt by taxpayers and by holders of fixed values.

Government spending policies can produce inflation but they cannot produce real wealth to equalize the losses involved in such inflation.

A Calm Tenseness

Algiers, long a pirates' paradise and still famed for its Casbah, has come to live casually with tension in recent years.

Residents of the troubled Algerian capital have been frisked by officers of the law at the entrances to department stores. They have seen bullet-proof vests for sale. They have watched helmeted soldiers patrolling with rifles. But despite the disquiet of Algieria's lingering rebellion, the people of Algiers go about their business with considerable calm.

In Algiers, two ways of life blend —and clash. Industrially oriented Europeans live near Arabs who have had little or no training. The Europeans have built roads, factories, hospitals and schools, but the country's rapidly - increasing population has largely offset the economic gain. Poverty has remained.

Algiers' eventful history goes back to Roman times. A small town called Icosium was located on the site. It had a Christian bishop as late as the fifth century. The town disappeared and North Africa passed under Moslem control.

Absentee Republicans

By David Lawrence

What Happened To The 8,600,000?

What happened to the 8,600,000 Republicans who voted in 1956 but didn't vote in 1958?

This is the puzzling question that is stirring the Republican party leaders as they strive now to write a platform designed to bring "conservative" and "non-conservative" groups together behind a single expression of party policy.

David Lawrence

At first glance, it might be assumed that most of the 8,600,000 Republicans voted Democratic and that, therefore, the Republican platform now might better imitate the Democrats. But a closer look at the Democratic total shows that most of the 8,600,000 Republicans couldn't have voted Democratic. For even if some of them did, this didn't make up for defections from the Democratic party. The total of all votes for the Democratic ticket for members of Congress throughout the nation in the last election was 4,200,000 less in the 1958 congressional elections than the party got in 1956 for members of Congress. Of this total who didn't vote, more than half were in the South. Thus, the loss in the North for the Democrats was about 1,700,000.

TWO FACTS, therefore, stand out. One is that both parties lost votes and, the other, that the Republicans had the larger loss.

But why, it may be asked, do fewer persons vote for members of Congress than for the presidential candidate? A drop-off in the total vote might be expected in an off-year election, because there is no single figure running for office at the top of the ticket but the real question is why the persons who actually go to the polls in a presidential election fail to vote at the same time for members of Congress.

Over a period of 60 years, the gap between the presidential vote and the congressional vote has been steadily widening, irrespective of party. Probably the answer is to be found in the gradual change that has been made in the nature of the ballots in different states and also in the growing population of each state and district. The voters simply do not know the candidates or what they stand for or else the separate ballot for Congress is tossed away by many voters. In the old days, presidential and congressional candidates were on the same ballot, which made it easier for straight-ticket voting.

It's a serious thing to see the voting drop off for members of Congress, who play such a dominant role in making the laws of the land.

It is often true that many voters are indifferent to national issues, or that many do not understand how such issues concretely apply to their own lives.

THE LOSSES apply also to residential districts where it would be assumed that the voters would be well informed on current issues. But just why so many millions do not vote Republican any more is a question that the Republicans themselves are debating.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is raising the whole question in a series of charts which, as chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, he is preparing to present to leaders and party workers in different parts of the country. These show that only in Arizona, where the Republican party adopted a "conservative" line, did the number of Republican votes actually increase in 1958 over the vote for members of Congress in 1956.

Lest it be thought that there is something special or unusual about the 1958 congressional election, the statistics show that the Republicans, while losing 8,600,000 votes as compared with 1956, had a total vote in 1958 of 3,800,000 less than in 1954. This happened even though the voting population in the country was increasing in the interval. It is true there also was a recession in 1954 but the fact remains that the Republicans didn't get out their vote, and the Democrats did.

THE DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS was due primarily to the superior machinery of the Democrats in getting out the vote, principally in the ranks of union-labor families. Thus, the public opinion polls show that in 1958 the labor vote divided 65 per cent to the Democrats and 35 per cent to the Republicans, which is almost exactly what it was two years before in the Eisenhower election.

This means that, as the Democrats got their vote to the polls and the Republicans didn't, the labor vote, being normal, swelled the totals for the Democrats.

The advantage the Democrats have in a labor-union political aparatus that costs many millions of dollars is plain to see. Unless the Republicans find ways of getting out their "conservative" vote, the Congress will be more and more dominated by the "pro-labor" and "pro-radical" blocs which believe in more and more governmental control of everything except their own group activities. A counterpart of the British Socialist Labor party will then emerge in the United States.

Don't Knock March

By Truman Twill

Except for the happenstance that I was born in March, I have no reason to be more partial to it than September, say, or July.

But as an instinctive champion of the underdog, I resent the way March is slandered by climatic critics. They have made it their favorite whipping boy of the months.

They say the wind blows too hard and that when the wind blows it is too cold.

They complain about the thawing and freezing, which is hard on growing things, mainly rose bushes.

They are put out because March is a month of sickness and misery —the end of the lines for people who finally run out of gas and succumb to viruses and microbes.

They wail when it rains, which it does more frequently than not. When it snows, they claim they are being victimized beyond reason.

They grow impatient because the things that are not going to occur until April anyway do not occur prematurely in March. To hear them tell it, March should mark the beginning of spring fever, when in fact it is famous only for the winter fantods.

They feel aggrieved when gales prune their trees for nothing and blow shingles off the roof of the house. They do not like it when their weather-weakened TV masts are bent over and blown askew.

They regard every sleet storm, blizzard, deluge and gust as a personal insult. In defiance, they buy some onion sets to prove that nature can be defied, and for what bitter satisfaction they can find in probing the inhospitable earth they bury sweet peas and some lettuce seed. But they have nothing good to say about March.

To hear its critics talk about it, no one would guess that it is the most important month of the year, not only because it is the birthday month of so many outstanding men and women but because it is the month when things start to grow.

This is as it should be — this growing — because from time immemorial March has ushered in the lifetimes of some of the sweetest, most deserving, most farsighted, most useful people who ever lived.

They — we — are the salt of the human race. Our heritage has made us more understanding, more perceptive, gentler and wiser than the ordinary run of people born in less favored months.

Because we are arithmetically obvious, being the offspring of parents who began to begat us in the preceding June, the month of weddings and flowers, it is our happy lot to be in harmony with the human race.

We have special insight into the foibles and follies of less privileged humans born in lesser months.

We are rugged, too, because it has been proved medically that babies born at the end of winter gain enough momentum in the first few months of life to withstand the blistering heat of their first summer without wilting.

Everything about our birth in March is in our favor, and we resent the way critics slander it. They should guard their tongues.

Former Judge Dies Suddenly

Frank E. Grosshans' Services Set Friday

He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Grosshans.

His higher education started in the fall of 1885, when he enrolled in the former Mt. Hope Academy at Rogers, a school that produced eight attorneys and judges and five doctors, although it was in existence only about four years. After his second year at Mt. Hope, he received a teaching certificate.

Formerly Taught School

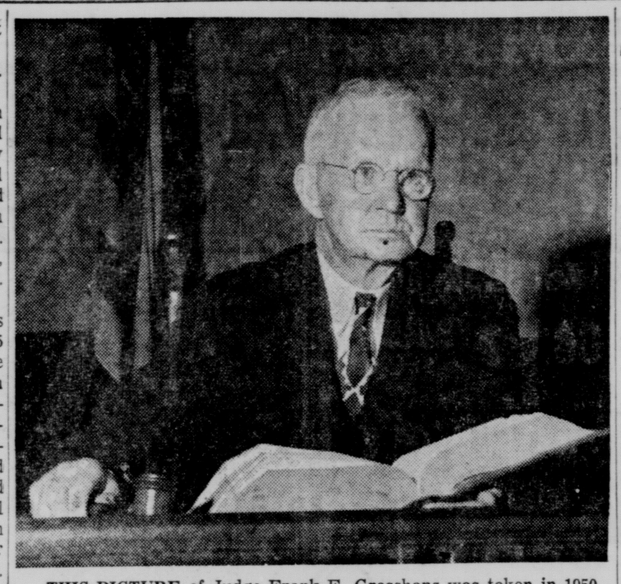
He taught school for two terms at Grimms Bridge, receiving $35 a month the first year and $40 the next, as he often recalled. Then he enrolled at the former Northeast Ohio Normal School at Canfield, another famous old institution of learning that has passed with time. Leaving the Canfield school, he came to East Liverpool in the fall of 1888 to read law in the office of Col. H. R. Hill, father of the late Atty. Walter B. Hill.

Reading law, an apprenticeship in the profession, taught him the methods of writing mortgages, agreements and contracts and many other everyday functions of the law office.

Starts College Studies

Then in September 1891, Judge Grosshans enrolled in the Cincinnati Law College with Walter B. Hill as his rommate and fellow classman. They were graduated in May 1892. It was the beginning of a long association that continued until a few years ago, when Atty. Hill died.

Returning to East Liverpool, Judge Grosshans opened his first office in September 1892 in what was known as the Homer Laughlin Building at E. 5th and Market Sts. Later, the firm became Grosshans & Grosshans, when he was joined by his brother, Hollis Grosshans, who read law in the office of Brookes & Purinton and then went on to graduate from the Cincinnati Law College in 1894.



THIS PICTURE of Judge Frank E. Grosshans was taken in 1950 just before his retirement from the Municipal Court bench after serving for 16 years.

In 1896, Judge Grosshans was elected city solicitor, running against his old friend and classmate, Atty. Hill. "It was a very friendly rivalry," he recalled.

He returned to the private practice of law, continuing in the firm of Grosshans & Grosshans until he and his brother separated their practice three years later. His private practice continued until he was elected to the bench in 1934.

Throughout his adult life, Judge Grosshans was a harness racing fan. He frequently attended Grand Circuit races and also followed harness racing when he wintered in Florida.

For many years, the judge made a hobby of his country home, Elmwood Gardens, located on the Y. & O. Rd. about midway between Glenmoor and Rock Camp. In his retirement, he made almost daily jaunts through the business district, stopping for talks on the sidewalk with his friends and acquaintances.

Judge Grosshans was a member of the Rotary Club for many years. A member of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, he also was active in the Longs Run Presbyterian Church at Calcutta, where he often spoke. He also taught a Longs Run Sunday School class some years ago.

Judge Grosshans was a member of the Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons of Ohio; Keramos Council 95, Royal and Select Masters, and Pilgrim Commandery 55, Knights Templar.

Judge Grosshans leaves a son, Col. Donovan P. Grosshans, who is in charge of the district Army Engineers office at Tulsa, Okla., a daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Knox of Mt. Lebanon and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. in the Arner Home for Funerals in East Liverpool by the Rev. M. Rudolph Miller of the Trinity church. The Columbiana County Bar Association will hold memorial services Friday at 1 p. m. in the Municipal Court and then attend the funeral rites.

Burial will be in Riverview Cemetery.

Friends may call this afternoon, tonight and Thursday at the funeral home.

Quail

down in history as the legislature that raised taxes and shot the quail.

"The majority of the people are very strongly opposed to both. But they may come to the point of forgiving the first by recognizing its necessity.

"There is no necessity for the latter."

She said the bird has no food value in comparison to many other targets which sportsmen now have access to.

She appealed to the legislators to "show ourselves capable of settling this emotional issue and get on to more complex issues that face us."

Hiner and Rep. George M. Hook (D-Brown), leading the arguments for the hunting season, said biological and scientific facts show that the quail is damaged more by human removal of its natural cover and food sources than by hunting.

Hiner cited quail breeding experts' reports that millions of quail of superior quality are produced annually and added that hunting is a multi-million dollar industry.

Hook quoted statistics from Indiana and Illinois, which permit open season on quail, showing that both have higher bob white population than Ohio's.

After several other amendments has been disposed of the debate was shut off and the roll call taken.

Among those voting for the hunting season were: Cassel, Creasy, Drake, Games, Hiner, Hisrich, Lacione, Loha, Longsworth, Nist, Rice, Riffe, Robinson, Rothel, Siple and Leist.

Included in those voting "no" were: Andrews, Caryl, Fisher, Hindlesberger, Lady, MacKenzie and Hildebrand.

Ward Speaks To Kiwanis

Chester's Mayor Attacks Move To Drop City Status

Mayor Burton Ward of Chester hit at rumors of a move to drop the city's incorporated status in a talk before the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night.

There have been reports of a group seeking to have the community merged with the Hancock County government, supposedly to reduce taxes and other city responsibilities.

"Just think what would happen if the city were unincorporated," the mayor exclaimed. "We would have a lack of law enforcement, no traffic lights or highway speed limits—the county would take over the water works and we would have no revenue at all."

The mayor declared: "It is my belief that any group or organization which would sponsor a move like this against the federal government would be called Communistic. A move against a small community like this doesn't fall too short of Communism."

Mayor Ward discussed city problems in the speech. He said it is difficult to operate within the city budget, but the administration "tries hard."

He said in many needs, such as city equipment and street improvements, there have been improvements made. He cited the $10,000 street projects of last year and the purchases of a water works truck, police cruiser and fire truck.

The mayor said the water metering system is underway, plans are progressing for a proposed sewage disposal plant, and street improvements are slated for the coming summer.

"I do what I can about criticism," he said, referring especially to comment about the recent purchase of a new fire truck. He said the city firemen and equipment are "second to none in the state."

Mayor Ward said he "draws a line on the sale of intoxicating beverages to minors" and cited cases of licenses being revoked for such violations.

R. M. McFarland, president, said "We should all take an interest in the town and cooperate with city officials."

Dr. John Graf of Weirton's Kiwanis Club extended an invitation to Chester members to a Ladies Night program in April. Dean Bryan, Chester chairman of the March of Dimes drive, said a letter of appreciation had been received from Bert Byers, Hancock County chairman, for the Chester club's sponsorship of the drive.

Charles Brenneman and William Flaherty of the Weirton club were guests, along with Paul Finley of Chester and Ralph Williams and Clifford Stone of the Key Club.

Raymond Stevens, secretary, reported the club ranked first in activities in the Kiwanis First Divison. Alvin (Pete) Arner was program chairman.

Trial

of his friends had died in that period and did not know the results of the November election.

Mrs. Cunningham said after Nov. 12 her husband became more upset and "cried all the time, seeing his name smeared all over the paper." She said "that was not like him."

Alexander asked: "Has he regained any of his memory?" She said he hadn't. "I had to tell him about this case, and had to call the doctor after I did."

Brokaw Cross-Examines

Under cross - examination by Prosecutor G. William Brokaw, the veteran of 16 years on the police force repeated he had no knowledge about the Burbick trial, the talks with Lockhart or other aspects of late October and early November.

He said he knew Lockhart from visits to drug stores while picking up and delivering film from his photo service, but he couldn't remember discussing jury duty with him.

Brokaw read testimony from the Burbick trial concerning the conversations with Lockhart, but Cunningham reiterated he knew nothing about it.

The prosecutor pressed him about events in mid-October and the Smith & Phillips trial. The defendant said tiredly, "These things come back a little at a time, I can't defend myself here. . ."

Malcolm McBurney, operator of the pharmacy, testified early in the afternoon about hearing Lockhart and Cunningham discuss jury service Nov. 11 at the store. He said Lockhart apparently didn't want to serve on the jury, because he didn't want to lose the work.

McBurney said Cunningham told Lockhart he would have him excused from the jury if he didn't want to serve.

In subsequent questioning of Cunningham, Brokaw asked how Atty. Alexander had known to call McBurney as a witness to the conversation if the defendant had no memory of that period. Cunningham said he didn't know.

Cunningham Helped From Stand

The ex-officer was on the stand for 27 minutes. When the questioning was over, he turned to Judge Sharp and apparently asked permission to sit in the chair for a few minutes. Judge Sharp said it would be all right.

Cunningham leaned his head on one hand and sat for a few minutes. Judge Sharp advised Court Bailiff Norman Ward to get the defendant a drink of water. Atty. Alexander asked for a recess and while the jury filed out, Mrs. Cunningham went to her husband and gave him a pill. She and Alexander helped him out of the room.

The jury, recessed at 1:55, was recalled at 2:35 p. m. and Cunningham returned to the defense table, wan and without his glasses.

Atty. Alexander called Prosecutor Brokaw as a witness, questioning him about how Lockhart had been called as a juror Nov. 12.

Lockhart was first summoned in November with a notice bearing the name of Lockwood, which he returned because that was not his proper name.

Brokaw said he met Lockhart briefly the night of Nov. 8 in his car outside the McBurney pharmacy while arrangements were being made to tape record the talk with Cunningham the following day.

Brokaw said he heard about the summons in the name of Lockwood, and on Nov. 12 at Lisbon let it be known to court authorities the clerk's name was Lockhart.

Brokaw told Alexander he did not specifically order a new summons sent, but "he hoped one would be sent."

Atty. Alexander asked: "No notice in the name of Lockhart was delivered until Nov. 10, is that right?"

"Yes, there has been testimony to that," Brokaw replied.

Bailiff Takes Stand

Earlier Miss Carolyn Malone, bailiff for Judge Raymond Buzzard, told of the jury lists for the Burbick burglary trial in November. She said, under questioning by Alexander, there was no Donald Lockhart on the venire Nov. 10.

She said at the end of the first day of the trial, an alternate still was to be chosen and Judge Buzzard directed 10 new members of the venire along with three absent members, including Donald Lockhart, be called for Nov. 12. Court was in recess Nov. 11 for Armistice Day.

Asked who had instructed her to change the name Lockwood to Lockhart on the list, she said Judge Buzzard had.

"The conversation of Ira Cunningham on the tape recording is not that of a normal man," Alexander said. "This man is a broken man. . .a broken-down relic. He is not the same Ira Cunningham of three years ago."

Alexander completed his arguments at 11:20 a. m. today. The judge is expected to charge the jury this afternoon.

In closing arguments this morning, Assistant Prosecutor Warren Bettis said if Cunningham had lost his memory and was still so ill, there should have been medical testimony.

"If he is so sick, he shouldn't be on trial," Bettis said, "but there has been no testimony from a physician or psychiatrist and no move to delay the trial."

Atty. Alexander objected and said the matter of continuing the trial because of the defendant's illness was broached to Judge Sharp last Thursday.

Judge Sharp explained to the jury this morning the defense asked informally for a continuance and he requested medical evidence. The judge said Atty. Alexander was unable to get Dr. Osterman to come to Lisbon, but offered to obtain a letter from the doctor.

Such a letter was delivered to Judge Sharp Saturday, but he said it could not be considered as evidence and he did not permit the delay.

BURBICK'S MORE THAN JUST A HARDWARE STORE

of his friends had died in that period and did not know the results of the November election.

Mrs. Cunningham said after Nov. 12 her husband became more upset and "cried all the time, seeing his name smeared all over the paper." She said "that was not like him."

Alexander asked: "Has he regained any of his memory?" She said he hadn't. "I had to tell him about this case, and had to call the doctor after I did."

Brokaw Cross-Examines

Under cross - examination by Prosecutor G. William Brokaw, the veteran of 16 years on the police force repeated he had no knowledge about the Burbick trial, the talks with Lockhart or other aspects of late October and early November.

He said he knew Lockhart from visits to drug stores while picking up and delivering film from his photo service, but he couldn't remember discussing jury duty with him.

Brokaw read testimony from the Burbick trial concerning the conversations with Lockhart, but Cunningham reiterated he knew nothing about it.

The prosecutor pressed him about events in mid-October and the Smith & Phillips trial. The defendant said tiredly, "These things come back a little at a time, I can't defend myself here. . ."

Malcolm McBurney, operator of the pharmacy, testified early in the afternoon about hearing Lockhart and Cunningham discuss jury service Nov. 11 at the store. He said Lockhart apparently didn't want to serve on the jury, because he didn't want to lose the work.

McBurney said Cunningham told Lockhart he would have him excused from the jury if he didn't want to serve.

In subsequent questioning of Cunningham, Brokaw asked how Atty. Alexander had known to call McBurney as a witness to the conversation if the defendant had no memory of that period. Cunningham said he didn't know.

Cunningham Helped From Stand

The ex-officer was on the stand for 27 minutes. When the questioning was over, he turned to Judge Sharp and apparently asked permission to sit in the chair for a few minutes. Judge Sharp said it would be all right.

Cunningham leaned his head on one hand and sat for a few minutes. Judge Sharp advised Court Bailiff Norman Ward to get the defendant a drink of water. Atty. Alexander asked for a recess and while the jury filed out, Mrs. Cunningham went to her husband and gave him a pill. She and Alexander helped him out of the room.

The jury, recessed at 1:55, was recalled at 2:35 p. m. and Cunningham returned to the defense table, wan and without his glasses.

Atty. Alexander called Prosecutor Brokaw as a witness, questioning him about how Lockhart had been called as a juror Nov. 12.

Lockhart was first summoned in November with a notice bearing the name of Lockwood, which he returned because that was not his proper name.

Brokaw said he met Lockhart briefly the night of Nov. 8 in his car outside the McBurney pharmacy while arrangements were being made to tape record the talk with Cunningham the following day.

Brokaw said he heard about the summons in the name of Lockwood, and on Nov. 12 at Lisbon let it be known to court authorities the clerk's name was Lockhart.

Brokaw told Alexander he did not specifically order a new summons sent, but "he hoped one would be sent."

Atty. Alexander asked: "No notice in the name of Lockhart was delivered until Nov. 10, is that right?"

"Yes, there has been testimony to that," Brokaw replied.

Bailiff Takes Stand

Earlier Miss Carolyn Malone, bailiff for Judge Raymond Buzzard, told of the jury lists for the Burbick burglary trial in November. She said, under questioning by Alexander, there was no Donald Lockhart on the venire Nov. 10.

She said at the end of the first day of the trial, an alternate still was to be chosen and Judge Buzzard directed 10 new members of the venire along with three absent members, including Donald Lockhart, be called for Nov. 12. Court was in recess Nov. 11 for Armistice Day.

Asked who had instructed her to change the name Lockwood to Lockhart on the list, she said Judge Buzzard had.

"The conversation of Ira Cunningham on the tape recording is not that of a normal man," Alexander said. "This man is a broken man. . .a broken-down relic. He is not the same Ira Cunningham of three years ago."

Alexander completed his arguments at 11:20 a. m. today. The judge is expected to charge the jury this afternoon.

In closing arguments this morning, Assistant Prosecutor Warren Bettis said if Cunningham had lost his memory and was still so ill, there should have been medical testimony.

"If he is so sick, he shouldn't be on trial," Bettis said, "but there has been no testimony from a physician or psychiatrist and no move to delay the trial."

Atty. Alexander objected and said the matter of continuing the trial because of the defendant's illness was broached to Judge Sharp last Thursday.

Judge Sharp explained to the jury this morning the defense asked informally for a continuance and he requested medical evidence. The judge said Atty. Alexander was unable to get Dr. Osterman to come to Lisbon, but offered to obtain a letter from the doctor.

Such a letter was delivered to Judge Sharp Saturday, but he said it could not be considered as evidence and he did not permit the delay.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: What is your opinion of a husband who teases and pesters his wife until she cries and leaves the room, then takes the chair she was sitting in, which is right in front of the TV set?

I used to wonder why he picked on me every time there was a real good show to watch. I finally caught on after about eight times. What can I do about a man who is so sneaky and childish?—GUSSIE.

Dear Gussie: Rearrange the furniture so the davenport faces the TV set.

Ivy In Their Hair

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is being written by a brother and sister. I am 17 and a high school senior. Hal is 16 and a junior. Our parents are making nervous wrecks out of us. Why? Because Mother went to Radcliffe and Dad went to Princeton. They've made us feel as if we will be dragging the family name in the mud if we don't get into these schools.

You probably know how tough it is to crack a top-notch college or university these days. Many of our friends who were graduated last spring didn't make either their first or second choices. Our folks don't understand this.

Hal is a brilliant student and an all-around athlete. He could probably make Princeton with no trouble. But he doesn't want Princeton. He'd prefer a smaller school.

I'm only a fair student and know I can't make Radcliffe. Mother keeps nagging me to "work harder." I'm working as hard as I can but my average is a low B and this isn't good enough.

Every night at dinner Dad yaks about Princeton and Mom harps on Radcliffe. We hate to go to the table. What advice can you give as or them—SWIMMING HEADS.

Dear Swimming Heads: Your parents want what they feel is best for you but they're out in left field on this one.

Their enthusiasm for Radcliffe and Princeton is a combination of snob-appeal and the desire to relive their youth through their children. Radcliffe and Princeton are excellent schools but other choices may be better for you and your brother.

It is not true that all top-notch colleges and universities are jam-packed and tough to crack. Many fine schools are looking for students. The trouble is that too many of our high school graduates (or their parents) want the Ivy League—male and female.

Ask your parents to make an appointment with your college program adviser. The adviser will be able to explain the situation to your folks. Let's hope they will then accept your academic limitations and respect your brother's preference.

Dear Ann: I enjoyed your reply to the mama who was bitterly disappointed because her gorgeous daughter married a homely man. I have a few words to say on this subject.

By all standards I was considered a beautiful girl. The man I married is "plain looking" at best. But he has a lovely personality and magnificent character. It stands out in my mind that the handsome jerks in my life gave me nothing but trouble. They were out to see what they could get and never cared who got hurt.

Beauty is fine but often it attracts the wrong types. My homely guy never thought he had a chance because the handsome fellows were always flocking around. Thank heaven I was smart enough to recognize this diamond in the rough.

Many of the pretty boys I knew are now fat and bald and nothing to look at. People who marry for looks get robbed — and it serves them right.—L.P.

Dear Gussie: Rearrange the furniture so the davenport faces the TV set.

Ivy In Their Hair

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is being written by a brother and sister. I am 17 and a high school senior. Hal is 16 and a junior. Our parents are making nervous wrecks out of us. Why? Because Mother went to Radcliffe and Dad went to Princeton. They've made us feel as if we will be dragging the family name in the mud if we don't get into these schools.

You probably know how tough it is to crack a top-notch college or university these days. Many of our friends who were graduated last spring didn't make either their first or second choices. Our folks don't understand this.

Hal is a brilliant student and an all-around athlete. He could probably make Princeton with no trouble. But he doesn't want Princeton. He'd prefer a smaller school.

I'm only a fair student and know I can't make Radcliffe. Mother keeps nagging me to "work harder." I'm working as hard as I can but my average is a low B and this isn't good enough.

Every night at dinner Dad yaks about Princeton and Mom harps on Radcliffe. We hate to go to the table. What advice can you give as or them—SWIMMING HEADS.

Dear Swimming Heads: Your parents want what they feel is best for you but they're out in left field on this one.

Their enthusiasm for Radcliffe and Princeton is a combination of snob-appeal and the desire to relive their youth through their children. Radcliffe and Princeton are excellent schools but other choices may be better for you and your brother.

It is not true that all top-notch colleges and universities are jam-packed and tough to crack. Many fine schools are looking for students. The trouble is that too many of our high school graduates (or their parents) want the Ivy League—male and female.

Ask your parents to make an appointment with your college program adviser. The adviser will be able to explain the situation to your folks. Let's hope they will then accept your academic limitations and respect your brother's preference.

Dear Ann: I enjoyed your reply to the mama who was bitterly disappointed because her gorgeous daughter married a homely man. I have a few words to say on this subject.

By all standards I was considered a beautiful girl. The man I married is "plain looking" at best. But he has a lovely personality and magnificent character. It stands out in my mind that the handsome jerks in my life gave me nothing but trouble. They were out to see what they could get and never cared who got hurt.

Beauty is fine but often it attracts the wrong types. My homely guy never thought he had a chance because the handsome fellows were always flocking around. Thank heaven I was smart enough to recognize this diamond in the rough.

Many of the pretty boys I knew are now fat and bald and nothing to look at. People who marry for looks get robbed — and it serves them right.—L.P.

4% Sales Tax Proposed For Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG — Bolting under pressure from lobbyists Tuesday, House Democrats forced their leadership to seek gubernatorial approval of a four per cent sales tax.

Majority Leader Stephen McCann, Carmichaels Democrat, will take the proposition to Gov. David L. Lawrence today along with the demands of many House Democrats that beer, liquor and the trade-in value of automobiles and appliances be excluded from the sales tax plan.

Gov. Lawrence, as part of his $425,000,000 tax plan, had asked for a three and one-half per cent sales levy—one half per cent greater than the present tax—and expansion of the act to cover those three items, as well as others.

While the majority of the Democratic caucus indicated approval of the four per cent rate, the approval was by no means solid and the splits were in several different directions. If the governor okays it, it is probably that as much trouble will come from other directions.

A bulldozer was used to clear the street of bricks and Ohio Edison employes repaired the wires.

Extradition Case Defendant Misses Court's Hearing

Federal authorities were expected to be asked today to institute a search for a city man who failed to appear in Municipal Court Tuesday for a hearing on an extradition charge.

Albama officials, who came to East Liverpool yesterday for the hearing for Herbert Stone, 31, of East Liverpool and Huntington, W. Va., indicated to court officials they planned to seek the aid of FBI agents in Pittsburgh.

They pointed out Stone now is a fugitive from justice in both Alabama and Ohio. The officials said the FBI previously refused to enter the case, claiming it was without jurisdiction.

Judge George L. Brokaw today forfeited a $500 cash bond Stone had posted Jan. 19 when he was arrested here on an Alabama fugitive warrant charging that he "unlawfully took or decoyed" his daughter, Pamela, from her mother in Tuscaloosa in 1955.

Judge Brokaw had continued the case until yesterday at the request of state authorities to allow Alabama officials the 30 days required by state law to complete extradition proceedings with Gov. Michael DiSalle. The warrant listed Stone's address in Huntington but police said he had been residing here for a short time before his arrest.

The dinner will be prepared and served by members of the auxiliary of Post 374.

The jurors are scheduled to hear a $5,000 false prosecution suit filed for Albert Magnone by Ralph Magnone against Nick Sakallardis. A similar suit of $5,000 involves Charles Andrew Fair, who sued by his next friend, Sue Fair, against the same defendant. The principals in both cases are from Weirton.

4% Sales Tax Proposed For Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG — Bolting under pressure from lobbyists Tuesday, House Democrats forced their leadership to seek gubernatorial approval of a four per cent sales tax.

Majority Leader Stephen McCann, Carmichaels Democrat, will take the proposition to Gov. David L. Lawrence today along with the demands of many House Democrats that beer, liquor and the trade-in value of automobiles and appliances be excluded from the sales tax plan.

Gov. Lawrence, as part of his $425,000,000 tax plan, had asked for a three and one-half per cent sales levy—one half per cent greater than the present tax—and expansion of the act to cover those three items, as well as others.

Extradition Case Defendant Misses Court's Hearing

Federal authorities were expected to be asked today to institute a search for a city man who failed to appear in Municipal Court Tuesday for a hearing on an extradition charge.

Albama officials, who came to East Liverpool yesterday for the hearing for Herbert Stone, 31, of East Liverpool and Huntington, W. Va., indicated to court officials they planned to seek the aid of FBI agents in Pittsburgh.

They pointed out Stone now is a fugitive from justice in both Alabama and Ohio. The officials said the FBI previously refused to enter the case, claiming it was without jurisdiction.

Judge George L. Brokaw today forfeited a $500 cash bond Stone had posted Jan. 19 when he was arrested here on an Alabama fugitive warrant charging that he "unlawfully took or decoyed" his daughter, Pamela, from her mother in Tuscaloosa in 1955.

Judge Brokaw had continued the case until yesterday at the request of state authorities to allow Alabama officials the 30 days required by state law to complete extradition proceedings with Gov. Michael DiSalle. The warrant listed Stone's address in Huntington but police said he had been residing here for a short time before his arrest.

12 Special Exhibits Slated For School 'Science Fair'

Twelve special exhibits from area industries, businesses and organizations will be featured, along with displays from 30 schools, at the Tri-State Science Fair Thursday through Saturday at Westgate School, W. A. Black, chairman, said today.

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will have two displays. Its telemobile located outside the school will show many of the new developments in the communications world.

The theme for its second display will be the DEW Line, the aircraft warning defense in the Arctic regions. Recently introduced at the President's Conference in Washington, the exhibit will be located in the gym.

A second mobile unit sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be an educational exhibit from the Atomic Energy Exhibit at Oak Ridge, Tenn., depicting the story of atomic energy from the mining and refining of radioactive ores to the construction of nuclear reactors.

Crucible Steel Co. will relate the story behind "The Making of Stainless Steel." The Economy Manufacturing Co. will have a small display of nose cones of rockets.

Photography fans will see evening demonstrations on enlarging and developing film, while high school driver education classes will allow visitors to test their visual acuity and brake reaction time.

The Riverview Greenhouse display will be located among student biology displays and relate "The Story of the Growth of an Orchid."

Visitors will be able to hear their heart beat on a machine which will be part of the display of the American Heart Association. The display will be in charge of senior students from the School of Nursing.

City Hospital's School of Nursing will illustrate "The Way to a Balanced Diet." The American Cancer Society and the Child Counseling Center also plan displays on scientific lines.

The displays will be open to the public after judging of student displays is completed about 4 p. m. Thursday.

Hancock Farm Agent Issues Fire Warning

Hancock County residents have been reminded by Oliver Johnson, agricultural agent, that no burning is permitted outdoors between 5 in the morning and 5 in the evening during the spring forest fire season, which began March 1 and extends through May 31.

Violations of the forest fire laws may result in stiff fines or imprisonment, Johnson pointed out. All burning must be kept safely confined and attended at all times, and all able-bodied persons 18 and older must fight forest fires when summoned, he said.

Twenty-six per cent of forest fires result from burning trash, according to the farm agent.

Thomas Jefferson was an enthusiastic book collector; assembled three extensive libraries.

Legal Puzzles Told For Club

Atty. Smith Stages Rotary's Program

Rotary Club members were afforded a glimpse of some of the ponderous enigmas which sometimes face court officials during a "You Be the Judge" program presented at Tuesday's luncheon meeting in the Travelers Hotel.

Atty. Lawrence W. Smith Jr. reiterated pertinent facts regarding puzzling legal cases which the Ohio Supreme Court has acted upon. The attorney chose three Rotarians to be "judges" and, after giving both the plaintiff's and defendant's allegations, the panel gave its verdicts. The "judges" were Principal George Hargraves, John Sachs and James Wallover.

The trio's decisions were compared to the verdicts of the Ohio Supreme Court, which Smith pointed out were "representative of sound logic and reasoning, and not hasty decisions."

The "cases" Smith presented pertained to automobile accidents, a change in a deceased man's will made by his wife, and the question of who was to receive custody of a child when its parents were killed in a traffic accident.

Of four cases narrated by Smith, the panel's decisions were in accordance with those given by the State Supreme Court on three occasions.

Dean Wilhelm, president, conducted business, when 11 were nominated for the Board of Directors. Election of 7 members of the board will be completed at next Tuesday's meeting.

Frank Dawson called attention to the Rotary-Ann Night planned Tuesday, March 24, at the Country Club. The program will include a quartet, a guest speaker and dancing, he said.

Ken Harsh of Steubenville was a guest. Other guests were present from Columbus, Youngstown, Kankakee, Ill., and Pittsburgh.

Football Mothers Air Fund-Raising Projects

Fund-raising projects for the fall football season were discussed by the Colt Football Mothers at a meeting Tuesday night at Chester High School.

The group voted to have its meeting dates placed on a birthday calendar being prepared by the Purple and Gold Band Mothers. Bills totaling $98.26 were ordered paid. Sixth grade mothers were guests.

Lunch was served by Mrs. William Williams, president. The next meeting will be April 14.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the difficult jobs of housekeeping is to wax linoleum and asphalt tile floors. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it's no longer necessary to wax and scrub; just apply Glaxo about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor.

House Group Keeps Spotlight On Red Strategy In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A subcommittee of the House un-American Activities Committee kept its spotlight today on Communist strategy and techniques in the heavily industrialized Pittsburgh district.

The three-man subcommittee called 12 witnesses at Tuesday's opening session of the scheduled three-day hearing here.

Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Hamp L. Golden of Pittsburgh who publicly revealed for the first time that they were undercover agents for the FBI in the Communist Party nearly 13 years.

Another witness, Reuben J. Hardin of Large, Pa., testified he served off and on as undercover man in the Communist Party for police agencies and the FBI from 1931 to 1954.

Golden, an employe of H. J. Heinz Co., said the Communist Party in the U.S. is more dangerous now than ever before because it operates underground through various front organizations.

Golden revealed he joined the party in August 1946 at the request of the FBI. His wife joined a year later.

"We were told our principal target was labor unions, particularly in the steel, electrical and food industries and in industries with defense contracts," said Golden.

Hardin testified that Communist leaders in the United States feel that "Pittsburgh is the most important part of the country to control because of its iron and coal.

"I was told that if the party could control coal, it could control the nation," added Hardin.

Except for the Goldens and Harden. All the witnesses cited the Fifth Amendment and other provisions of the constitution in refusing to answer questions.

Subcommittee members are Rep. Edwin E. Willis (D-La), chairman, and Reps. William M. Tuck (D-Va.) and Gordon E. Scherer (R-Ohio). They hope to wrap up the investigation by Thursday.

Technical Development Managers Appointed

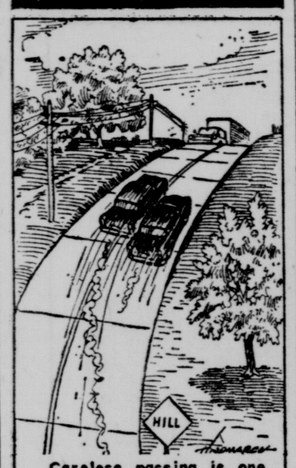
Dr. James K. Stanley and Dr. James A. Stavrolakis have been appointed section managers in technical development for the Crucible Steel Co.

They will be responsible for coordination of process and product development on two product lines and both will have offices in the Oliver Building in Pittsburgh.

Dr. Stanley joined Crucible in 1955 as supervisor of the silicon steel, magnetic materials and applied physics sections in the company's central research laboratory in Pittsburgh. He held this position until his present appointment.

Dr. Stavrolakis, who came to Crucible in 1956, was formerly research co-ordinator.

SAFE DRIVING TIP



Careless passing is one of the greatest causes of highway accidents.

It is impossible to see beyond a hillcrest or a curve, so you can never safely cross into the other lane at these points.

Naturally, says the Chicago Motor Club, it is irritating to follow slow-moving traffic near the crest of a hill. But the good driver will accept the delay rather than risk an accident. In the illustration, the impatient driver is about to pay for his carelessness.

Sen. Morse Leads Fight To Limit Draft To 2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) led a last-ditch fight in the Senate today to limit extension of the peacetime draft to two years instead of the four urged by the administration.

His chances appeared slim in the face of unanimous approval by the Senate Armed Services Committee of the four-year extension and previous House passage by a top-heavy vote.

Senate leaders had planned to push the bill to a vote Tuesday night, but they postponed action until today when Morse came up with a long floor speech opposing the measure.

Pending at the time was a proposal by Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) to set up a presidential commission of six civilians and one military member. It would study the draft and other military manpower issues and recommend any needed changes to Congress by Jan. 31, 1961.

Morse told the Senate that Congress was being stampeded into "ultimatum-type legislation" because of the Berlin crisis.

$117,300 Race To End Santa Anita Meeting

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The $117,300 San Juan Capistrano Handicap, featuring a cast of 15 grass running specialists, concluded the 55-day Santa Anita meeting today.

Top candidate in pre-race calculations was Mrs. Herbert Herff's Tudor Era, a 6-year-old English runner, who was flown here from Florida for this one big stakes.

Arrayed against Tudor Era were such challengers as Hakuchikara from Japan, Argentina's Anisado and Aorangi, Anxious Moment from Ireland and Llangollen Farm's Royal Living.

The San Juan distance is about a mile and three-quarters.

Talks Due To Resume In Electrical Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Negotiations may resume Friday between the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.

Federal Mediator H. J. Montoney said neither side has indicated any major change in position since the strike began Midnight Feb. 28 when the electrical workers' old contract expired. About 1,300 walked off the job in a wage dispute.

Supervisors are operating the company's plants to keep power flowing to customers in 23 central and southern Ohio counties.

Senate Committee May Delay Its Approval Of Luce

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee may delay until after Easter approval of Clare Boothe Luce's nomination as ambassador to Brazil.

Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La) said that some of the members want to allow time for a "cooling-off" period before acting.

He said some members are concerned because of the publication in the Latin American edition of Time magazine of an article blamed for setting off anti-American rioting in Bolivia. Mrs. Luce's husband, Henry R. Luce, is editor-in-chief of Time.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), chairman of the subcommittee on Latin American affairs, said he got the committee to postpone action "for the time being until the nomination can be given further consideration."

Long said he was not disposed to oppose confirmation as "Mrs. Luce is able and talented and there is no objection to her on the part of the Brazilian government."

"But I think she ought to use some of her diplomacy on her husband's magazine," he said.

Chester Fund Teams Picked For Red Cross

Workers have been named for the fund campaign of the North Hancock County Red Cross Chapter to be launched in Chester Monday, Donald Hood, community chairman, announced.

Donations of industrial and business firms in Chester will be handled by Jack Berry. The chapter's 1959 goal is $5,451. Officials hope to exceed the goal, however, as the chapter did not stage a separate campaign for disaster funds. Part of its disaster funds were used to alleviate the flood conditions in New Cumberland early this year.

Those named as captain for solicitation in Chester are:

Mrs. J. M. Brand, 1st to 3rd Sts.; Miss Dolores Faudree, 3rd to 4th Sts., and Carolina Ave. to River St., Miss Marlene Gibbs, Meadowcrest; Miss Juanita Cline, Mill Addition, 5th to 6th and Carolina to River.

Mrs. Glenna Miller, 6th St. to 9th and Carolina; Mrs. Freida Olash, Upper End; Wayne Hutton, 5th to 6th, and Carolina to Georgia; Mrs. Ruth Abrams, 4th to 5th, and Louisiana Ave; Mrs. Peg Edwards, 3rd to 4th, and Carolina to city limits.

Mrs. Betty Cashdollar, 2nd to 3rd, and Carolina to city limits; Mrs. Mary Lou Welch, 1st to 2nd, and Pennsylvania Ave. to Montana Ave; Miss Alda Fowler, 1st to 2nd, and Carolina to Church Alley, and William Tuttle, Fairview St. to the city limits.

$12 Million In Road Bids Open March 31

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Highway construction for which bids will be opened March 31 amounts to more than 12 million dollars, the state highway department said today.

About $9,400.000 will be spent on a 5½-mile section of Ohio 1 (the Cincinnati-to - Conneaut freeway) in Franklin County and a 2-mile relocation of Ohio 7 in Jefferson County.

Other projects include two in Auglaize County, one in both Butler and Warren counties, and one each in Darke, Ross, Knox and Trumbull counties. Maintenance projects are listed for Logan, Knox, Darke, Jackson, Ross, Summit, Stark, Franklin, Guernsey, Fairfield, Warren, Shelby, Miami, Hamilton, Delaware and Licking counties.

Judge, Lawyer Named To Lincoln Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland judge and a Columbus attorney have been appointed to the Ohio Lincoln Sesquicentennial Committee. Albert A. Woldman of Cleveland and Simon P. Dunkle of Columbus join these others on the committee:

Mrs. James B. Patton, Columbus, Chairman; John F. Cady, Athens; Kent Castor, Chillicothe; Sauel Englender, Cincinnati; Hubert B. Eyman Jr., Lancaster; Robert S. Harper, Columbus; Charles A. Jones, Columbus; Carl W. Schaefer, Cleveland, George W. Ritter, Toledo; Mason M. Robert, Dayton; Rorbert Taft Jr., Cincinnati, and Prof. Earl W. Wiley, chairman emeritus.

Hotrodders Already Trouble Ohio Patrol

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The State Highway Patrol has troubles already with hotrodders on the North-South Throughway — and it doesn't open for traffic until next fall.

Residents near Madison complain they are frequently awakened late at night by the roar of cars speeding four abreast along the seven-mile stretch where twin concrete lanes run.

The patrol so far has been unable to catch anyone racing. When patrolmen rush to answer a complaint, they find the hotrodders gone.

Voters Are Reduced

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Hamilton County Election Board says its annual overhaul of voting records has reduced the number of registered voters by nearly 13 per cent. A spokesman said Tuesday that 51,252 voters were disqualified from voting until they renew registration. This leaves 346,637 qualified voters on the rolls.

Children Of The Bible

ESTHER

"And he brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther, his uncle's daughter: for she had neither father nor mother . . ."

—Esther 2:7

Her Persian name was Esther, meaning "a star." But her parents originally called her Hadassah, the Hebrew word for "myrtle."

When they died, the orphaned girl went to live with her cousin, Mordecai, who was a vizier to the Persian monarch, Ahasuerus.

The Persians chose a better name, for the Bible tells us that "the maid was fair and beautiful."

This was one of the most elegant and ornate royal mansions in ancient times. When the girl was first taken by Mordecai into the Apadana or audience chamber, she could hardly believe her eyes.

The lofty ceiling was of cedar, brightly painted and set with designs of metal and colored tile. Supporting it were tall columns of gray marble, topped by capitals of beautifully carved kneeling bulls.

Around her the walls were decorated with patterns set with enameled brick. Elaborately embroidered hangings of purple and scarlet could be unrolled to shut out the glare of the hot sunlight during the day.

The pretty girl who first looked upon the splendor of the King's audience hall little realized that one day this would be the setting for her greatest triumph.

For it was here that she pleaded for the lives of her people who were to be persecuted by Haman, prime minister of the king.

In this, her great beauty was matched only by her courage. "I will go in unto the king," she declared boldly, "which is not according to the law: if I perish, I perish."

Her heroism has become a lasting legend.

Commissioners O.K. Vacating Land Section

Columbiana County commissioners Monday approved the vacating of certain streets and alleys in the Bloomfield Land Improvement Co.'s 1st and 2nd additions in St. Clair Township, according to R. Max Gard, chairman of the board.

Kenneth Burt of East Liverpool R. D. 2 requested the action. Atty. William Foulks and Mrs. and Mrs. Clarence Green had objected, but they went along when certain stipulations were made, Gard said.

LISBON — Commissioners have awarded a contract to the Bennett Publishing Co. to furnish 100,000 envelopes for the county treasurer's office at $5.56 per thousand. The low bids were the same and the commissioners gave it to the local firm.

Rural Programs Set

LISBON — A program on buying children's clothing and wall finishes was to be presented at the meeting of the Elkrun Township Home Demonstration Group today at 10 a. m. at the Elkton Parish House. A similar program will be presented for the Center Township Home Demonstration Group Friday from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. W. L. Lewton, 242 W. High St.

DiSalle Raps Sales Tax Bill On Services

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has disowned an administration bill in the Legislature to levy a sales tax on amusements, sports events, laundries, dry cleaning establishments and other companies that deal in services rather than products.

He told a news conference Tuesday he plans to ask the Legislature to strike out any such levies from the bill.

He said he never intended that the bill include those services. The bill would have been rewritten, he added, but there was not enough time before the bill introduction deadline last Thursday.

DiSalle wants the sales tax to apply only to these services: Hotel and motel rooms, and hotel and motel parking—if a charge is made for the latter.

The governor said he does not believe there would be an inequity arising from his suggestion that the state allow counties to collect and distribute utility excise taxes. The state now collects the tax and turns it over to counties for poor relief purposes.

DiSalle said he believes local collection would be equitable "because the bulk of the money would go to counties where the need exists."

He added that collections might be lower if it were left up to counties, explaining that they would levy the tax only if they need it. "And some of them don't need as much as they're getting now," he said.

Weirton Steel Lists 2 New Appointments

Appointment of Francis L. Maus as director of management development and training, and Kenneth A. Mason as assistant to the safety director at the Weirton Steel Co. Division of the National Steel Corp. has been announced by E. A. Ross, vice president of industrial relations. Both men have assumed their new duties.

Maus will direct the management development and training program recently inaugurated at Weirton Steel in conjunction with the education and training department of which Frank M. Poland is director.

He was with the Youngstown Kitchen Division of the American Standard Corp. at Salem, serving as manager of industrial relations before joining Weirton Steel.

Mason, formerly a senior safety engineer in the Ford Motor Co.'s steel division at Detroit, will work directly with Milo Gray, safety director, and assistant, James Ashbridge.

Sohio Reports 1958 Earnings Up Slightly

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) reports 1958 earnings up slightly from 1957 despite a decline in net sales and operating revenue.

The 1958 net earnings were $24,044,463, or $4.82 a share, compared with $23,920,335, or $4.79 a share in 1957, Sohio reported Tuesday.

Net sales and revenue in 1958 were $358,000,924, compared with the all-time high of $377,486,875 recorded by Sohio in 1957.

Booklet Gives Aid To City's Seeking New Industries

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Your community interested in establishing new industries?

Ohio's Division of Economic Development and Publicity is offering a helping hand by making available some valuable information.

The information is in a 20-page booklet called "Guide for Community Development." It tells how a development corporation is formed, gives basic location factors and steps for an industrial development program.

Also included are sample articles of incorporation, industrial site data, industrial building data, and a suggested industrial location data questionnaire.

Single copies of the guide are available free to those interested. They can be acquired by writing to the Division of Economic Development and Publicity, Room 402, State Office Building, Columbus 15, Ohio.

Chester Fund Teams Picked For Red Cross

Workers have been named for the fund campaign of the North Hancock County Red Cross Chapter to be launched in Chester Monday, Donald Hood, community chairman, announced.

Donations of industrial and business firms in Chester will be handled by Jack Berry. The chapter's 1959 goal is $5,451. Officials hope to exceed the goal, however, as the chapter did not stage a separate campaign for disaster funds. Part of its disaster funds were used to alleviate the flood conditions in New Cumberland early this year.

Those named as captain for solicitation in Chester are:

Mrs. J. M. Brand, 1st to 3rd Sts.; Miss Dolores Faudree, 3rd to 4th Sts., and Carolina Ave. to River St., Miss Marlene Gibbs, Meadowcrest; Miss Juanita Cline, Mill Addition, 5th to 6th and Carolina to River.

Mrs. Glenna Miller, 6th St. to 9th and Carolina; Mrs. Freida Olash, Upper End; Wayne Hutton, 5th to 6th, and Carolina to Georgia; Mrs. Ruth Abrams, 4th to 5th, and Louisiana Ave; Mrs. Peg Edwards, 3rd to 4th, and Carolina to city limits.

Mrs. Betty Cashdollar, 2nd to 3rd, and Carolina to city limits; Mrs. Mary Lou Welch, 1st to 2nd, and Pennsylvania Ave. to Montana Ave; Miss Alda Fowler, 1st to 2nd, and Carolina to Church Alley, and William Tuttle, Fairview St. to the city limits.

$12 Million In Road Bids Open March 31

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Highway construction for which bids will be opened March 31 amounts to more than 12 million dollars, the state highway department said today.

About $9,400.000 will be spent on a 5½-mile section of Ohio 1 (the Cincinnati-to - Conneaut freeway) in Franklin County and a 2-mile relocation of Ohio 7 in Jefferson County.

Other projects include two in Auglaize County, one in both Butler and Warren counties, and one each in Darke, Ross, Knox and Trumbull counties. Maintenance projects are listed for Logan, Knox, Darke, Jackson, Ross, Summit, Stark, Franklin, Guernsey, Fairfield, Warren, Shelby, Miami, Hamilton, Delaware and Licking counties.

Judge, Lawyer Named To Lincoln Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland judge and a Columbus attorney have been appointed to the Ohio Lincoln Sesquicentennial Committee. Albert A. Woldman of Cleveland and Simon P. Dunkle of Columbus join these others on the committee:

Mrs. James B. Patton, Columbus, Chairman; John F. Cady, Athens; Kent Castor, Chillicothe; Sauel Englender, Cincinnati; Hubert B. Eyman Jr., Lancaster; Robert S. Harper, Columbus; Charles A. Jones, Columbus; Carl W. Schaefer, Cleveland, George W. Ritter, Toledo; Mason M. Robert, Dayton; Rorbert Taft Jr., Cincinnati, and Prof. Earl W. Wiley, chairman emeritus.

Hotrodders Already Trouble Ohio Patrol

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The State Highway Patrol has troubles already with hotrodders on the North-South Throughway — and it doesn't open for traffic until next fall.

Residents near Madison complain they are frequently awakened late at night by the roar of cars speeding four abreast along the seven-mile stretch where twin concrete lanes run.

The patrol so far has been unable to catch anyone racing. When patrolmen rush to answer a complaint, they find the hotrodders gone.

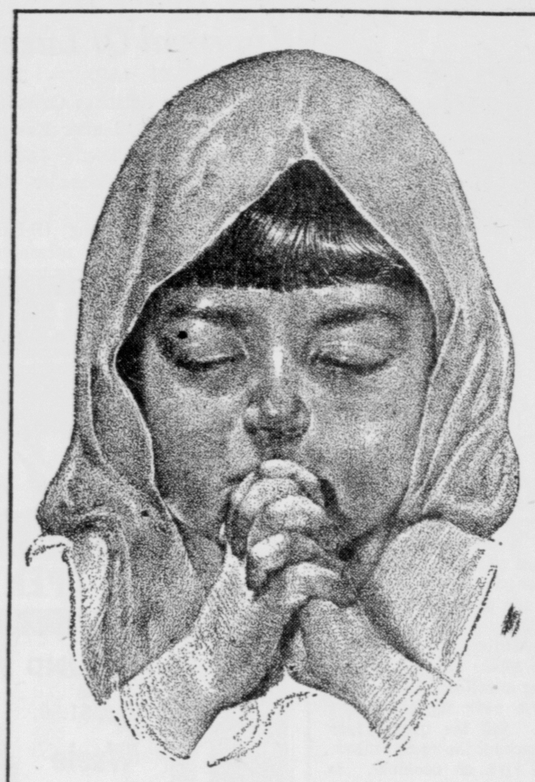
Voters Are Reduced

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Hamilton County Election Board says its annual overhaul of voting records has reduced the number of registered voters by nearly 13 per cent. A spokesman said Tuesday that 51,252 voters were disqualified from voting until they renew registration. This leaves 346,637 qualified voters on the rolls.

Children Of The Bible



ESTHER

"And he brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther, his uncle's daughter: for she had neither father nor mother . . ."

—Esther 2:7

Her Persian name was Esther, meaning "a star." But her parents originally called her Hadassah, the Hebrew word for "myrtle."

When they died, the orphaned girl went to live with her cousin, Mordecai, who was a vizier to the Persian monarch, Ahasuerus.

The Persians chose a better name, for the Bible tells us that "the maid was fair and beautiful."

This was one of the most elegant and ornate royal mansions in ancient times. When the girl was first taken by Mordecai into the Apadana or audience chamber, she could hardly believe her eyes.

The lofty ceiling was of cedar, brightly painted and set with designs of metal and colored tile. Supporting it were tall columns of gray marble, topped by capitals of beautifully carved kneeling bulls.

Around her the walls were decorated with patterns set with enameled brick. Elaborately embroidered hangings of purple and scarlet could be unrolled to shut out the glare of the hot sunlight during the day.

The pretty girl who first looked upon the splendor of the King's audience hall little realized that one day this would be the setting for her greatest triumph.

For it was here that she pleaded for the lives of her people who were to be persecuted by Haman, prime minister of the king.

In this, her great beauty was matched only by her courage. "I will go in unto the king," she declared boldly, "which is not according to the law: if I perish, I perish."

Her heroism has become a lasting legend.

Commissioners O.K. Vacating Land Section

Columbiana County commissioners Monday approved the vacating of certain streets and alleys in the Bloomfield Land Improvement Co.'s 1st and 2nd additions in St. Clair Township, according to R. Max Gard, chairman of the board.

Kenneth Burt of East Liverpool R. D. 2 requested the action. Atty. William Foulks and Mrs. and Mrs. Clarence Green had objected, but they went along when certain stipulations were made, Gard said.

LISBON — Commissioners have awarded a contract to the Bennett Publishing Co. to furnish 100,000 envelopes for the county treasurer's office at $5.56 per thousand. The low bids were the same and the commissioners gave it to the local firm.

Rural Programs Set

LISBON — A program on buying children's clothing and wall finishes was to be presented at the meeting of the Elkrun Township Home Demonstration Group today at 10 a. m. at the Elkton Parish House. A similar program will be presented for the Center Township Home Demonstration Group Friday from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. W. L. Lewton, 242 W. High St.

DiSalle Raps Sales Tax Bill On Services

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has disowned an administration bill in the Legislature to levy a sales tax on amusements, sports events, laundries, dry cleaning establishments and other companies that deal in services rather than products.

He told a news conference Tuesday he plans to ask the Legislature to strike out any such levies from the bill.

He said he never intended that the bill include those services. The bill would have been rewritten, he added, but there was not enough time before the bill introduction deadline last Thursday.

DiSalle wants the sales tax to apply only to these services: Hotel and motel rooms, and hotel and motel parking—if a charge is made for the latter.

The governor said he does not believe there would be an inequity arising from his suggestion that the state allow counties to collect and distribute utility excise taxes. The state now collects the tax and turns it over to counties for poor relief purposes.

DiSalle said he believes local collection would be equitable "because the bulk of the money would go to counties where the need exists."

He added that collections might be lower if it were left up to counties, explaining that they would levy the tax only if they need it. "And some of them don't need as much as they're getting now," he said.

Weirton Steel Lists 2 New Appointments

Appointment of Francis L. Maus as director of management development and training, and Kenneth A. Mason as assistant to the safety director at the Weirton Steel Co. Division of the National Steel Corp. has been announced by E. A. Ross, vice president of industrial relations. Both men have assumed their new duties.

Maus will direct the management development and training program recently inaugurated at Weirton Steel in conjunction with the education and training department of which Frank M. Poland is director.

He was with the Youngstown Kitchen Division of the American Standard Corp. at Salem, serving as manager of industrial relations before joining Weirton Steel.

Mason, formerly a senior safety engineer in the Ford Motor Co.'s steel division at Detroit, will work directly with Milo Gray, safety director, and assistant, James Ashbridge.

Sohio Reports 1958 Earnings Up Slightly

The 1958 net earnings were $24,044,463, or $4.82 a share, compared with $23,920,335, or $4.79 a share in 1957, Sohio reported Tuesday.

Net sales and revenue in 1958 were $358,000,924, compared with the all-time high of $377,486,875 recorded by Sohio in 1957.

2 Wheeling Men Face Hearing For Attack

WOODSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A preliminary hearing will be held Tuesday for two Wheeling, W. Va., men charged with statutory rape of a 15-year-old girl.

Lloyd Abbott, 25, and Joseph Billy Edgell, 24, pleaded innocent at their arraignment here Tuesday.

Two other men are awaiting grand jury action on charges stemming from the same assault, Jan. 31. The four are accused of dragging the girl from her home near here and raping her in a field after first beating up her parents.

Sir Walter Scott is conceded to have been the originator of the historical novel.

Sure, And It Was A Sad Day For Shamrocks

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sure and it was a sad day for the Shamrocks of Cleveland.

The Irish folk here had a big shindig Tuesday night for the Shamrocks, launching a new season in the 36-team Gaelic Football Conference. Mick Delahunty's band from the Ould Sod was to play.

But Delahunty's boys never touched an instrument. As singer Carmel Quinn explained it, the band had learned that an okay from the International Musicians Union was good only in New York, where Delahunty had appeared previously.

The party went off anyway, and Delahunty and the Shamrocks danced to Irish jigs played by Joe Hruby and his Bohemian band.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieter Loses 70 Pounds In Year

Members of the 100-Pounds-To-Lose club, tune in. When you have that amount of poundage to lose, the goal seems a long way off, and perhaps, impossible to reach.

Ida Jean Kain

Today's story about a woman who is almost three-fourths of the way to her goal will give you gladdened strength. This letter is from an Ohioan, a farm woman.

"I was most interested in your story about the women who are carrying an excess hundred pounds. A year ago, I weighed 273 pounds. I am 5 feet 7 tall with a large frame. I have been overweight for at least 20 years.

"Last January I decided to do something about it. I made up my mind that it was the last year I would carry that burden of fat. Oh, I had tried to diet before—and had taken some pills the doctor gave me.

"BUT I GUESS I expected the pills to take off the pounds, for I kept right on eating the same way.

"Starting January 24, 1958, I cut down on my food intake. Instead of dieting strictly I followed the plan of eating the foods my body needed but left off the extra starch, sugar and fats.

"I am happy to report that by the protective plan of eating to reduce, I lost 59½ pounds by November, and a total of 70 pounds in one year. I guess I don't have to tell you all the will power that took. I am hoping to make it a loss of an even 100 pounds. With the help of God and strength of will, I believe I can do it.

"I have lost 8 inches in my waist alone, and reduced the bust from 44 to 38. I have gone from a tight 48 and sometimes size 50 dress to size 38.

"I have four grown children and a young one of eight years. So you see I am raising my second family. I also have a 3-year-old grandson. If my story will help others to lose, you may use it. Tell your readers that since I have lost the weight, I feel so much better and I look so much better, and I do not have any wrinkles.

"The going is slow now, but I will keep on. . ."

We all salute you! Yours is a wonderful story of courage and faith.

OVERWEIGHTS, the dieter in today's story is a farm woman and very active. She could not subsist on faddy diet fare. She determined to change her way of eating and reduce on good food that sustained her strength.

That is the only successful way to reduce. By following a protective pattern, food habits are changed, and changed food habits guarantee success! We will be eager to hear from this reducer 30 pounds from now. She will make it.

Flying Bank Robber Believed In Indiana

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Frank L. Sprenz, 29-year-old flying bank robber, was reported seen at Aretz Flying Service Airport East of Lafayette Tuesday night.

Edward J. Powers, FBI agent in charge at Indianapolis, said a man matching the description of Sprenz inquired about renting a plane. Airfield employes did not become suspicious until later when they saw pictures of Sprenz and a description circulated by the FBI to airports.

Investigators said the technique of "casing" an airport and later stealing a plane to make a getaway was used in a $25,955 robbery March 2 at the First National Bank and Trust Co. branch at Hamilton, Ohio.

Sgt Donald Hall said the girl told him Redman had broken into her home this morning and she shot him as he chased her through the house.

Library's Films Provide Subjects On Easter Season

Program planners seeking material for the Easter season should try the Carnegie Public Library's still film service, a library of 35-mm. films. The Easter films have a recorded background. There are subjects available for different age groups.

"The Easter Bunnies" surprise is intended for the very youngest audience—aged 3 to 8. "How We Got Our Easter Customs" can be used with the 9-to-16-year-old group. "Easter Around the World" is recommended for adult groups. These programs have about a 10-minute running time.

To round out a visual program, the library suggests for the kindergarten and primary group one or two nursery tales on film. These "Atoms As You Will Use Them," "Flying With Jets and Rockets," "Pathways to the Planets" and "Spaceship to the Planets."

Women's groups will find seasonal inspiration in the Better Homes & Garden study on new draperies, "Color Ideas, Your Key to Good Decorating." There are also in this group "Wonders of Paint" and "Houses USA." The first of these has a fine commentary on a record.

Travel subjects have just been received on "Hawaii" and "Switzerland."

Butler Says Kennedy Top Democratic Choice

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Paul M. Butler, Democratic party national chairman, said Tuesday that according to polls, Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass) leads the pack for the party nomination as president. But, he said, it's a long time before next year's party convention.

Butler told a news conference he was not writing off Adlai Stevenson as a candidate, but added that to get the nomination, a man must seek it.

"There are a lot of people who think you will have a chance to wear your Stevenson buttons again in 1960," he said. "In my opinion, the country has never had offered to it by either party a man so well qualified to be president as Stevenson."

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieter Loses 70 Pounds In Year

Members of the 100-Pounds-To-Lose club, tune in. When you have that amount of poundage to lose, the goal seems a long way off, and perhaps, impossible to reach.

Ida Jean Kain

Today's story about a woman who is almost three-fourths of the way to her goal will give you gladdened strength. This letter is from an Ohioan, a farm woman.

"I was most interested in your story about the women who are carrying an excess hundred pounds. A year ago, I weighed 273 pounds. I am 5 feet 7 tall with a large frame. I have been overweight for at least 20 years.

"Last January I decided to do something about it. I made up my mind that it was the last year I would carry that burden of fat. Oh, I had tried to diet before—and had taken some pills the doctor gave me.

"BUT I GUESS I expected the pills to take off the pounds, for I kept right on eating the same way.

"Starting January 24, 1958, I cut down on my food intake. Instead of dieting strictly I followed the plan of eating the foods my body needed but left off the extra starch, sugar and fats.

"I am happy to report that by the protective plan of eating to reduce, I lost 59½ pounds by November, and a total of 70 pounds in one year. I guess I don't have to tell you all the will power that took. I am hoping to make it a loss of an even 100 pounds. With the help of God and strength of will, I believe I can do it.

"I have lost 8 inches in my waist alone, and reduced the bust from 44 to 38. I have gone from a tight 48 and sometimes size 50 dress to size 38.

Service Starts At Newell

Health Center Established

Hancock County's four major communities each have health clinics after the County Health Department opened a new service Tuesday in Newell.

The Newell clinic, located on the second floor of the Aaron Building on Washington St., will be open on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

The department also operates clinics in Chester, New Cumberland and Weirton to provide immunization shots for infants, preschool age children and expectant mothers. Polio shots also are given.

Facilities for the center at Newell were donated by County Court and several Newell civic groups, including American Legion Post 114, Women's Club, Lions Club, volunteer fire department, Boosters Club, and Mike Orenzuk, who supplied the paint and labor.

Newell residents previously traveled to Chester for health services. The next clinic in Newell is planned March 24 from 10 a. m. to noon.

2 Jet Bombers Miss Collision By Inches

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (AP) —Two B47 jet bombers missed collision by inches Tuesday. As they banked steeply at 30,000-foot altitude to avoid each other, the wing of one clipped a radio antenna from the tail fin of the other.

Both planes remained aloft and later landed safely at southwest Idaho's Mountain Home Air Force Base—after circling for hours to exhaust their fuel.

The Saguenay River in Quebec, Canada, is conceded to be the world's deepest river. It is 1,400 feet deep in some places.

Dairy Club To Meet

LISBON—The Columbiana County Dairy Club will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Lisbon Grange Hall. A film on dairy barns will be shown and a local veterinarian will discuss dairy diseases and disease-control.

Service Starts At Newell

Health Center Established

Hancock County's four major communities each have health clinics after the County Health Department opened a new service Tuesday in Newell.

The Newell clinic, located on the second floor of the Aaron Building on Washington St., will be open on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

The department also operates clinics in Chester, New Cumberland and Weirton to provide immunization shots for infants, preschool age children and expectant mothers. Polio shots also are given.

Facilities for the center at Newell were donated by County Court and several Newell civic groups, including American Legion Post 114, Women's Club, Lions Club, volunteer fire department, Boosters Club, and Mike Orenzuk, who supplied the paint and labor.

Newell residents previously traveled to Chester for health services. The next clinic in Newell is planned March 24 from 10 a. m. to noon.

2 Jet Bombers Miss Collision By Inches

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (AP) —Two B47 jet bombers missed collision by inches Tuesday. As they banked steeply at 30,000-foot altitude to avoid each other, the wing of one clipped a radio antenna from the tail fin of the other.

Both planes remained aloft and later landed safely at southwest Idaho's Mountain Home Air Force Base—after circling for hours to exhaust their fuel.

Migliore, Paolisso Picked To Work Regional Games

While the Ohio Valley has been called the state's "hotbed of basketball," with lucrative college scholarships offered to many of its outstanding schoolboy cagers, several in the refereeing phase of the sport also have been in the spotlight on occasion.

This year, the valley will have a solid representation in Regional tournament action in two states — Ohio and West Virginia.

Both have been selected for regional tournament officiating in their respective states, only one jump away from state tournament level.

Migliore was chosen to work the Regional Class AA headliner of Middletown versus Xenia Central Friday night at 7:30 in the Cincinnati Gardens — home of the professional Cincinnati Royals.

The Middies of Coach Paul Walker, seven times Ohio champions, boast a record of 19-4, while Xenia Central has a 22-1 mark. Jazzo will work only the mentioned game, but plans to hang around the Queen City for the finals Friday night.

Paolisso, one of West Virginia's youngest officials, was selected for Region 4 action at Charleston, which gets under way tonight with St. Albans (20-2) meeting Huntington (14-4).

The former three-sports star at Weir High School in Weirton also will officiate the finals on Friday night. Regional work qualifies an official for the state tournament, and if selected, the 30-year-old Paolisso would probably be the youngest to ever work a state tourney contest.

Migliore, "dean" of the area officials with 15 years experience with the whistle, is making his second appearance in a regional tournament.

Jazzo officiated at Toledo two years ago in the regionals. His lifetime ambition has been to work a state final game and his name is presently on the select list.

The 49-year-old arbitrator handled the Sectional AA contest between Canton McKinley and Alliance last week at Canton. One of the area's better known officials, Jazzo is already booked for 23 high school games next season — a testimony to his ability.

Paolisso has officiated for eight years and was once a semi-professional baseball player. He saw duty with the American Association and the International League as a shortstop and went to spring training with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1952.

Navy Bumps Tar Heels In First Round

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unsung Navy stood out today as the team to watch — if not the team to beat — as the NCAA basketball tournament moved toward its weekend regional doubleheaders at Charlotte, N.C., Evanston, Ill., Lawrence, Kan. and San Francisco.

On a night when West Virginia won its first NCAA tournament game in five years of trying, Navy emerged with most of the attention after beating North Carolina, 76-63.

The Middies, as well balanced and finely tuned as a machine, simply dismantled Frank McGuire's rebuilt Tar Heels in the windup of a first round Eastern regional tripleheader at Madison Square Garden.

West Virginia — an 82-68 winner over Dartmouth's Ivy League champions, and the Middies advanced to the second round with Boston University, Marquette and Louisville.

West Virginia scored its long-awaited victory — ending a jinx of four straight first round defeats, and Boston U. whipped Connecticut with a spectacular rally, 60-58, in other New York games. With St. Joseph's (Pa.), the Middle-Atlantic champ which drew a first round bye, the three winners set up camp at Charlotte Friday and Saturday to pick the Eastern region's representative for the national semifinals at Louisville, March 20.

Marquette whipped Bowling Green 89-71 and Louisville turned back Eastern Kentucky 77-63 in first round play in the Mideast regional at Lexington, Ky. They join defending NCAA champion Kentucky and Big 10 champ Michigan State in the Mideast wrapup at Evanston, Friday and Saturday.

With only one first round game remaining, New Mexico State vs. Idaho State at Las Cruces, N.M. tonight, the Friday regionals shape up this way:

Eastern at Charlotte: West Virginia (26-4) vs. St. Joseph's (Pa) (23-3); Boston U. (19-6) vs Navy (17-5).

Mid-Eastern at Evanston: Louisville (17-10) vs. Kentucky (23-2); Marquette (23-4) vs. Michigan State (18-3).

Mid-Western at Lawrence, Kan: Texas Christian (19-5) vs Cincinnati (23-3); Depaul (13-9) vs. Kansas State (24-1).

Far Western at San Francisco: St. Mary's (Calif) (18-5) vs. New Mexico State-Idaho State winner; California (21-4) vs Utah (21-5).

"Navy can go all the way in this tournament," said McGuire, who had won 20 of 24 games with a sophomore-junior team molded after his NCAA champions of two years ago were graduated. "They might run into trouble with a big team like Kansas State, but I'll bet Ben can find the answer. He usually does."

The big scorers were Jay Metzler with 20 points and flame-haired Dick Johnson with 16.

On the small school level, defending champ Tennessee A&I led an 8-game program that completed the two-day first round in the week-long NAIA tournament in Kansas City. Advancing with the champs were Youngstown, Westminster (Pa), Lenoir Rhyne, Fairleigh-Dickinson, Illinois Normal, Southwest Texas, and Georgia Teachers.

The NCAA small college tourney goes into its quarter-final stage at Evansville, Ind., today with North Carolina A&T vs. American U., South Dakota State vs. Los Angeles State in afternoon games, and tonight, Hope (Mich) vs. Southwest Missouri, and St. Michaels (Vt) vs. Evansville.

Pirates Top Cards, 4-1

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Smoky Burgess now is in the Smoky City, where as catcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates he removes some of the pressure on Ed Bailey, the big Cincinnati Reds receiver.

Bailey was a disappointment last season when he hit only .250 in 112 games. He may have been somewhat off balance knowing Burgess was waiting in the wings. Burgess appeared in 99 games in 1958, and usually caught the second game of a doubleheader.

Cincinnati and Kansas City were 0-0 after six innings Tuesday in their exhibition game at West Palm Beach, Fla., when Bailey walloped a 3-run homer off Ralph Terry that gave the Reds a 4-3 victory over the Athletics. Whitey Herzog hit a 3-run homer for the A's in the last half of the seventh.

The Chicago Cubs registered their first Cactus League victory in three games by defeating the Cleveland Indians 9-3 at Mesa, Ariz. The Cubs scored five runs in the first inning off Cal McLish, the Indians' 16-game winner. Tony Taylor, Cubs second sacker, hit 3-for-3.

Milwaukee and the New York Yankees met at St. Petersburg, Fla., and the Braves made it two in a row over the world champions, winning 5-2. Whitey Ford held the Braves to one hit in three innings, but Milwaukee got three runs off Tom Sturdivant in the fifth. Hank Aaron homered for the Braves in the eighth. Andy Carey's two-run homer in the seventh saved the Yankees from a shutout.

The Boston Red Sox won their third straight, thumping the San Francisco Giants 8-2 at Phoenix, Ariz. Frank Malzone, Boston third baseman, drove in four runs with two hits.

At Lakeland, Fla., the Detroit Tigers defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 when Johnny Groth's sacrifice fly scored Ossie Alverez in the seventh inning.

Two rookies, Jim McDaniel and Rocky Nelson, singled in the seventh inning and the Pittsburgh Pirates tallied three runs to down the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1.

Home runs by Julio Becquer, Reno Bertoia and J. W. Porter powered the Washington Senators to a 6-5 night victory over Baltimore at Miami. The Orioles almost pulled the game out with three runs in the seventh and two in the ninth.

Cage Tourney Entries List Local Talent

Ralph Fusco, publicity director of the JC's, said the local entries include Isaly's Dairy and the Thorofare Hurricanes of East Liverpool, and Reynolds Poultry of Wellsville.

Fusco also reported that the Dover Basketeers, youngsters who frolic on the court in Harlem Globetrotter fashion, will appear between the consolation finals and the tournament finals Saturday, March 28.

Isaly's Dairy lists local talent and is managed by James Dickey. Joe Urich, former Irondale High School star, and Pat Lysle, formerly of Wellsville High School, head the poultry store entry managed by Bud Santimarino.

The tourney is scheduled the week of March 23, excluding Good Friday. Teams have been requested to file entry blanks as soon as possible with the JC organization. Trophies are on display at the House of Wax record store on Main St., in Wellsville.

Track Coach Frank Zazula of the University of North Dakota is a 1940 graduate of the University of Akron, where he was a Little All-America halfback.

Salem Enters Regionals For First Time Since '46

Salem will be looking for a trip to Columbus and the state finals when it enters regional play tonight at 8 against Canton Lincoln in the Kent Fieldhouse.

Cabas is expected to start his same lineup which has carried Salem this far. The starting five includes big Lou Slaby at center, with Woody Deitch, the team's leading scorer with 310 points, Dave Hunter, Dan Krichbaum and Clyde Marks at the other posts.

Dinner will be served at 6 p. m. The event is being sponsored by the Blue and Gold Activities Club.

Hold Spots In ABC

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Joe David and Tim Moran, Canton, Ohio, continue to hold a tie for second place in doubles standings, and Ken Knappenberger and Warren Lutz, Bucyrus, Ohio, remain in seventh place, after Tuesday's competition in the American Bowling Congress Tournament here.

Lowly Royals' Twyman 2nd In NBA Point Race

CINCINNATI (AP)—It's a little ironic, but the most hopeless pro basketball team this season had the National Basketball Assn.'s second hottest scorer.

The St. Louis Hawks' Bob Pettit has the season scoring leadership sewed up with more than 2,000 points to his credit and another game to play.

But Twyman's contributions have been conspicuous. The one-time star for the University of Cincinnati got hotter as the season closed, scoring 50 points once against St. Louis to move into contention for scoring honors.

Marshall Bridges, rookie pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, switched from first base to the pitching mound in 1955 and won 14 games in his first season.

Favorites Face Tests In Small College Tourney

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — At least two of the premeet favorites will be eliminated today in a rugged quarter-final round that opens the NCAA college division basketball tournament.

They are Hope College of Holland, Mich. (20-2) going against Southwest Missouri (21-2) and host Evansville (18-6) facing St. Michaels of Winooski, Vt. (19-6).

The quarter - finals open with two afternoon games North Carolina A & T of Greensboro (26-4) vs. American University, Washington, D.C. (22-6) and South Dakota State (17-6) vs. Los Angeles State (19-6).

Hope is hubbed by the tourney's biggest man, 6-10 Paul Benes, who has a 20.5 average. Southwest Missouri, loser of only four games in the last two years, has held foes to a 59.8 average, the best defensive showing in the field. It also boasts the top field goals shooting percentage, .452.

Far Western at San Francisco: St. Mary's (Calif) (18-5) vs. New Mexico State-Idaho State winner; California (21-4) vs Utah (21-5).

"Navy can go all the way in this tournament," said McGuire, who had won 20 of 24 games with a sophomore-junior team molded after his NCAA champions of two years ago were graduated. "They might run into trouble with a big team like Kansas State, but I'll bet Ben can find the answer. He usually does."

The big scorers were Jay Metzler with 20 points and flame-haired Dick Johnson with 16.

On the small school level, defending champ Tennessee A&I led an 8-game program that completed the two-day first round in the week-long NAIA tournament in Kansas City. Advancing with the champs were Youngstown, Westminster (Pa), Lenoir Rhyne, Fairleigh-Dickinson, Illinois Normal, Southwest Texas, and Georgia Teachers.

The NCAA small college tourney goes into its quarter-final stage at Evansville, Ind., today with North Carolina A&T vs. American U., South Dakota State vs. Los Angeles State in afternoon games, and tonight, Hope (Mich) vs. Southwest Missouri, and St. Michaels (Vt) vs. Evansville.

Pirates Top Cards, 4-1

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Smoky Burgess now is in the Smoky City, where as catcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates he removes some of the pressure on Ed Bailey, the big Cincinnati Reds receiver.

Bailey was a disappointment last season when he hit only .250 in 112 games. He may have been somewhat off balance knowing Burgess was waiting in the wings. Burgess appeared in 99 games in 1958, and usually caught the second game of a doubleheader.

Burgess was sent to Pittsburgh in the deal that brought Frank Thomas, the Pirates' demon third baseman, to Cincinnati.

Cincinnati and Kansas City were 0-0 after six innings Tuesday in their exhibition game at West Palm Beach, Fla., when Bailey walloped a 3-run homer off Ralph Terry that gave the Reds a 4-3 victory over the Athletics. Whitey Herzog hit a 3-run homer for the A's in the last half of the seventh.

The Chicago Cubs registered their first Cactus League victory in three games by defeating the Cleveland Indians 9-3 at Mesa, Ariz. The Cubs scored five runs in the first inning off Cal McLish, the Indians' 16-game winner. Tony Taylor, Cubs second sacker, hit 3-for-3.

Milwaukee and the New York Yankees met at St. Petersburg, Fla., and the Braves made it two in a row over the world champions, winning 5-2. Whitey Ford held the Braves to one hit in three innings, but Milwaukee got three runs off Tom Sturdivant in the fifth. Hank Aaron homered for the Braves in the eighth. Andy Carey's two-run homer in the seventh saved the Yankees from a shutout.

The Boston Red Sox won their third straight, thumping the San Francisco Giants 8-2 at Phoenix, Ariz. Frank Malzone, Boston third baseman, drove in four runs with two hits.

At Lakeland, Fla., the Detroit Tigers defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 when Johnny Groth's sacrifice fly scored Ossie Alverez in the seventh inning.

Two rookies, Jim McDaniel and Rocky Nelson, singled in the seventh inning and the Pittsburgh Pirates tallied three runs to down the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1.

Home runs by Julio Becquer, Reno Bertoia and J. W. Porter powered the Washington Senators to a 6-5 night victory over Baltimore at Miami. The Orioles almost pulled the game out with three runs in the seventh and two in the ninth.

Salem Enters Regionals For First Time Since '46

Salem will be looking for a trip to Columbus and the state finals when it enters regional play tonight at 8 against Canton Lincoln in the Kent Fieldhouse.

The winner of tonight's Salem-Lincoln contest meets the winner of the New Philadelphia - Akron Central game scheduled for Thursday. The finals will be held Saturday night beginning at 8.

Cage Tourney Entries List Local Talent

Ralph Fusco, publicity director of the JC's, said the local entries include Isaly's Dairy and the Thorofare Hurricanes of East Liverpool, and Reynolds Poultry of Wellsville.

The Mountaineer State entry is Radio Station WMOD of Moundsville, which includes a contingent of players from the Wheeling area, headed by Bob Krajnyak of Martins Ferry.

Fusco also reported that the Dover Basketeers, youngsters who frolic on the court in Harlem Globetrotter fashion, will appear between the consolation finals and the tournament finals Saturday, March 28.

Isaly's Dairy lists local talent and is managed by James Dickey. Joe Urich, former Irondale High School star, and Pat Lysle, formerly of Wellsville High School, head the poultry store entry managed by Bud Santimarino.

The tourney is scheduled the week of March 23, excluding Good Friday. Teams have been requested to file entry blanks as soon as possible with the JC organization. Trophies are on display at the House of Wax record store on Main St., in Wellsville.

Dinner will be served at 6 p. m. The event is being sponsored by the Blue and Gold Activities Club.

Jordan, an all-state selection while in high school, was named to several all-American teams while performing at North Carolina. After the war, he played two years at the University of Kentucky.

Varsity letters will be presented by Coach Max Tuttle.

Hold Spots In ABC

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Joe David and Tim Moran, Canton, Ohio, continue to hold a tie for second place in doubles standings, and Ken Knappenberger and Warren Lutz, Bucyrus, Ohio, remain in seventh place, after Tuesday's competition in the American Bowling Congress Tournament here.

CINCINNATI (AP)—It's a little ironic, but the most hopeless pro basketball team this season had the National Basketball Assn.'s second hottest scorer.

He is John Kennedy Twyman, eagle-eyed 6-foot-6 veteran who tossed in 1,859 points for Cincinnati's Royals this season.

He didn't reach his mark until Tuesday night when he netted a final 26 points for the Royals against Philadelphia's Warriors in the last game for each team.

But the Royals lost anyway, 102-96. Twyman's team won only 19 games this year and lost 52, finishing in the Western Division basement.

The St. Louis Hawks' Bob Pettit has the season scoring leadership sewed up with more than 2,000 points to his credit and another game to play.

The Royals have been troubled with assorted injuries this season and the team has not been a conspicious success at the gate.

But Twyman's contributions have been conspicuous. The one-time star for the University of Cincinnati got hotter as the season closed, scoring 50 points once against St. Louis to move into contention for scoring honors.

Marshall Bridges, rookie pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, switched from first base to the pitching mound in 1955 and won 14 games in his first season.

Favorites Face Tests In Small College Tourney

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — At least two of the premeet favorites will be eliminated today in a rugged quarter-final round that opens the NCAA college division basketball tournament.

Four top choices are paired against each other as eight survivors of regional play start action leading to the championship showdown Friday night.

They are Hope College of Holland, Mich. (20-2) going against Southwest Missouri (21-2) and host Evansville (18-6) facing St. Michaels of Winooski, Vt. (19-6).

The quarter - finals open with two afternoon games North Carolina A & T of Greensboro (26-4) vs. American University, Washington, D.C. (22-6) and South Dakota State (17-6) vs. Los Angeles State (19-6).

Hope is hubbed by the tourney's biggest man, 6-10 Paul Benes, who has a 20.5 average. Southwest Missouri, loser of only four games in the last two years, has held foes to a 59.8 average, the best defensive showing in the field. It also boasts the top field goals shooting percentage, .452.

Butler Hennon To Talk At Eastern Ohio Clinic

Butler Hennon of Wampum (Pa.) High School will be a member of the lecturing staff during the annual Eastern Ohio Coaches Association basketball and football clinic April 4 at Martins Ferry High School.

Hayden Buckley, Martins Ferry football coach and president of the Eastern Ohio Coaches Association, said the remainder of the program and members of the lecturing staff will be announced later.

Hennon is not only the basketball coach, but also the supervising principal at Wampum High. He's the father of Don Hennon, Pitt's All-American basketball star.

In nine years, Hennon's Wampum teams have won 129 games while losing only three in section play in the WPIAL and have won titles each year.

Twice Wampum has won the Pennsylvania state Class B crown. In Don Hennon's senior year, the 1954-55 season, Wampum swept through 31 games without a defeat.

Hennon will speak at the clinic on basketball fundamentals and on the training "gimmicks" which have made him famous.

Youngstown Faces Champs In NAIA Play

KANSAS CITY (AP) —The National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament moved into its second round today and the champion of the last two years, Tennessee A & I State, again appears to be the class of the field.

Tennessee A & I, first all-Negro team ever entered in the six-day, 32-team tournament, was in high gear Tuesday night in defeating a well prepared Nebraska Wesleyan team 75-57.

The same big three — Dick Barnett, John Barnhill and Jim Satterwhite — that led A & I to its other NAIA crowns again got the job done for the speedy Tennessee club. Barnett scored 29 points.

The champions will meet a strong Youngstown (Ohio) University team in the second - round feature game tonight. Youngstown won its first round game 85-76 over Northern (S.D.) State Tuesday.

Other scores from the eight games played Tuesday included: Fairleigh-Dickinson of New Jersey 77, Culver-Stockton 66; Westminster (Pa.) 79, New Britain (Conn.) 76; Lenoir Rhyne (N.C.) 90, Northern Michigan 67; Southwest Texas State 93, Linfield (Ore.) College 61; Illinois Normal 98, Troy (Ala) 50, and Georgia Teachers 91, Platteville (Wis.) 84.

Howe Reaches 30-Goal Mark

By The Associated Press

The two have been the dominant figures in the National Hockey League for more than a decade. They are the most proficient scorers in league history.

In Tuesday night's lone NHL game, Howe equalled another of the records The Rocket set with the Montreal Canadiens. He triggered his 29th and 30th goals of the season for the Detroit Red Wings in their 5-5 deadlock with the rocketless Canadiens.

It was the ninth time in the last 10 seasons Howe has reached the 30-goal milestone. Richard, however, has scored 30 times in nine different campaigns. He wasn't in Detroit to watch Howe notch his two markers. The Rocket, recuperating from a broken leg, was in Czechoslovakia, attending the world amateur championships.

The 37-year-old Frenchman still retains a commanding edge as the NHL's all-time goalgetter with 525 in 17 seasons. Howe, who won't be 31 until March 31, now has 416 in 13 seasons.

Detroit is eight points behind fourth-place New York in the battle for the last playoff position. The Red Wings have the possibility of gaining only 10 points by winning all five of their remaining games. They haven't missed the playoffs since 1938.

Bill Veeck Purchases Control Of White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veeck and his syndicate have purchased control of the Chicago White Sox but hopes for a "friendly working arrangement" with co-Vice President Charles Comiskey may not be so easy.

Having completed the purchase, Veeck said he and former major league star Hank Greenberg, a member of the eight-man syndicate, will serve temporarily as executive assistants to John Rigney, Dorothy's husband and co-vice president with Comiskey.

Fritz Pollard was the first University of North Dakota athlete to win a spot on a U.S. Olympic team. A sprinter, he ran third behind Jesse Owens in the 1936 games.

West Virginia Schools Set For Regional Play

CHARLESTON (AP)—Two youthful basketball coaches whose teams have the best records in the Region 4 Class AAA tournament opening tonight here have a mutual admiration for each other's squad.

St. Albans (20-2) and South Charleston (19-3) could meet in the Region 4 finals Friday night if they get past Huntington (14-4) and Logan (12-9), respectively.

Al Nida, who is in his sixth year at the helm of St. Albans' Red Dragons, picks arch - rival South Charleston to defeat Logan. Jack Surrette, who is a three-year man as the Black Eagles' coach, thinks St. Albans is at its peak and very capable of winning a berth in the state tourney at Huntington March 20-21.

The triple A Region 4 battling at the Civic enter will kick off the final tournaments that will decide four finalists each in the three scholastic championship divisions.

Surrette said he knows very little about the Logan Wildcats, a surprising victor over Huntington East to reach the Region 4 showdown. He called Princeton the best team his Black Eagles faced all season.

Princeton (20-1) is favored to win the Region 3 crown at Fayetteville. The Tigers beat South Charleston in the regular season finale at home by 12 points, but SC outgoaled Rod Thorn and Co.

St. Albans and South Charleston are the tallest teams in the Region 4 field. The Red Dragons will open with Dick LaLance, a six-footer, and Frank Roy, 6-2, at forwards and 6-3 junior Al Bailey at center.

South Charleston has 6-2 forwards in Carl Ward and Buzzy Harrison and a 6-4 center in Jay Dietz. Bob Sibold, a 6-3 standout who was a regular, broke his ankle in the game at Princeton and was lost for tourney play.

The off day in Region 4 was set up by the competing coaches. They wanted the opening doubleheader so that neither survivor would have an extra day of rest.

Region 1 and Region 3 in Class AAA will open tomorrow night when Moundsville (11-10) faces Clarksburg Victory (11-10) and Welch (13-8) meets DuPont (17-5), respectively.

Clarksburg Washington Irving (15-4) plays Weirton (16-5) in the other first-round Region 1—AAA game at Moundsville Friday night, while Princeton takes on tournament-dangerous Beckley (17-4) in Region 3.

Region 2 at Morgantown will have a doubleheader Friday night. Martinsburg (13-8) will play Richwood (17-4) and Fairmont West (17-4) will meet Elkins (17-4).

Finals in Regions 1, 2 and 3 will be Saturday night.

Doubleheaders tomorrow night in Region 3 and Region 4 will start the Class AA battling.

Northfork-Elkhorn (21-1) plays Mullens (13-9) and Beckley Stratton (9-13) faces Peterstown (16-6) in Region 3 at Princeton. Region 4 at St. Albans will include Lookout (16-6) vs. Ceredo Kenova (6-15) and Poca (11-11) vs. Matewan (22-1).

New York Businessmen Backing Sports In City

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—This city's capture of the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight for Yankee Stadium June 23 is just the beginning of a drive by business interests to make New York a flourishing sports center again.

"This fight means 60 million dollars in business for New York," said Bill Zeckendorf Sr., hotel chain owner and realtor. "We and the other business interests in New York were determined to get the fight.

"This is just the beginning. We intend to bid for major league baseball, football and other boxing shows. This is only in our self-interest. Whatever we lose to other cities means a loss to hotels here and other businesses."

Fight promoter Bill Rosensohn disclosed at a press conference Tuesday that it was "a dramatic, last minute guarantee of $600,000 by Bill Zeckendorf and his son that swung me in favor of New York City.

"I'm telling you frankly that I was all set to have the fight in Chicago until that bid was made Monday. Ragnar Benson of Chicago had guaranteed me $500,000.

The move by Zeckendorf and other industrial leaders apparently means that solid backing will be given to Mayor Robert Wagner's movement to get a second major league baseball team in New York to make up for the shift of the Dodgers and Giants to California.

Rosensohn said he expected to gross at least a million dollars at Yankee Stadium. He also figures to clear a minimum of $300,000 from either home television or theater television. He said he already has reservations for 4,200 seats from fans in Sweden.

Strickland Is Shooting For Shortstop Position

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — George Strickland, the balding shortstop who was off baseball last year, is behaving mighty strangely for a man who has quit the game.

He lately has been observed consorting openly with the Cleveland Indians.

Evidence that Strickland might have fallen back into his old ways seemed to gather compelling force when he was found sitting in the Cleveland dressing room. He was wearing a Cleveland uniform and perspiring most suspiciously.

"You kinda miss the game after playing it 12 or 13 years," he said. "After I quit last year, I didn't pick up a bat. The only games I saw all season were on TV.

"I quit for personal reasons, which I won't go into. They seemed sound at the time, and I guess they still are.

"My decision to come back didn't result from just any one thing. It was an accumulation of things. Near the end of the summer, I wrote Frank Lane (the Cleveland general manager) and asked Commissioner Frick to be reinstated. I felt that I'd kept myself in good shape and I figured I could play a few more years.

"I thought spring training was really going to be tough this time. But I'm a little amazed at the shape I'm in already.

"I don't know what the club is thinking, but if my hitting picked up a little I think I'd have as good a shot as anyone at one of the infield positions."

Strickland, who has a lifetime major league batting average of .222, is the oldest infielder on the Cleveland roster, with the exception of 40-year-old Mickey Vernon. George was 33 in January.

Lane Not Alarmed At Beating Cubs Gave Cal McLish

"Compared with the way the guy looked a year ago," Lane said, "he was a champion out there today."

The Cubs batted around and scored five runs in the first inning and added another run in the second, but McLish set them down in order in the third.

McLish, who led the Cleveland pitchers last year with a 16-8 record, had been offered as trade bait for an established third baseman. But now that the infield has showed signs of being a satisfactory unit, the pitching staff has become the critical area and Lane has indicated that he had about given up all thought of trading the 33-year-old hurler.

The Cubs got 11 hits off three pitchers to beat the Indians 9-3.

Al Cicotte, who followed McLish to the mound, gave up two runs in three innings, and Russ Heman was touched for a run in the last two frames.

Butler Hennon To Talk At Eastern Ohio Clinic

Butler Hennon of Wampum (Pa.) High School will be a member of the lecturing staff during the annual Eastern Ohio Coaches Association basketball and football clinic April 4 at Martins Ferry High School.

Hayden Buckley, Martins Ferry football coach and president of the Eastern Ohio Coaches Association, said the remainder of the program and members of the lecturing staff will be announced later.

Hennon is not only the basketball coach, but also the supervising principal at Wampum High. He's the father of Don Hennon, Pitt's All-American basketball star.

In nine years, Hennon's Wampum teams have won 129 games while losing only three in section play in the WPIAL and have won titles each year.

Twice Wampum has won the Pennsylvania state Class B crown. In Don Hennon's senior year, the 1954-55 season, Wampum swept through 31 games without a defeat.

Hennon will speak at the clinic on basketball fundamentals and on the training "gimmicks" which have made him famous.

BUTLER HENNON
To Appear At Clinic.

Youngstown Faces Champs In NAIA Play

KANSAS CITY (AP) —The National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament moved into its second round today and the champion of the last two years, Tennessee A & I State, again appears to be the class of the field.

Tennessee A & I, first all-Negro team ever entered in the six-day, 32-team tournament, was in high gear Tuesday night in defeating a well prepared Nebraska Wesleyan team 75-57.

The same big three — Dick Barnett, John Barnhill and Jim Satterwhite — that led A & I to its other NAIA crowns again got the job done for the speedy Tennessee club. Barnett scored 29 points.

The champions will meet a strong Youngstown (Ohio) University team in the second - round feature game tonight. Youngstown won its first round game 85-76 over Northern (S.D.) State Tuesday.

Other scores from the eight games played Tuesday included: Fairleigh-Dickinson of New Jersey 77, Culver-Stockton 66; Westminster (Pa.) 79, New Britain (Conn.) 76; Lenoir Rhyne (N.C.) 90, Northern Michigan 67; Southwest Texas State 93, Linfield (Ore.) College 61; Illinois Normal 98, Troy (Ala) 50, and Georgia Teachers 91, Platteville (Wis.) 84.

Howe Reaches 30-Goal Mark

By The Associated Press

The two have been the dominant figures in the National Hockey League for more than a decade. They are the most proficient scorers in league history.

In Tuesday night's lone NHL game, Howe equalled another of the records The Rocket set with the Montreal Canadiens. He triggered his 29th and 30th goals of the season for the Detroit Red Wings in their 5-5 deadlock with the rocketless Canadiens.

It was the ninth time in the last 10 seasons Howe has reached the 30-goal milestone. Richard, however, has scored 30 times in nine different campaigns. He wasn't in Detroit to watch Howe notch his two markers. The Rocket, recuperating from a broken leg, was in Czechoslovakia, attending the world amateur championships.

The 37-year-old Frenchman still retains a commanding edge as the NHL's all-time goalgetter with 525 in 17 seasons. Howe, who won't be 31 until March 31, now has 416 in 13 seasons.

The Canadiens, by erasing 3-0 and 5-3 Detroit leads, dealt another blow to the Wings' dim hopes for a Stanley Cup playoff berth.

Detroit is eight points behind fourth-place New York in the battle for the last playoff position. The Red Wings have the possibility of gaining only 10 points by winning all five of their remaining games. They haven't missed the playoffs since 1938.

West Virginia Schools Set For Regional Play

CHARLESTON (AP)—Two youthful basketball coaches whose teams have the best records in the Region 4 Class AAA tournament opening tonight here have a mutual admiration for each other's squad.

St. Albans (20-2) and South Charleston (19-3) could meet in the Region 4 finals Friday night if they get past Huntington (14-4) and Logan (12-9), respectively.

Al Nida, who is in his sixth year at the helm of St. Albans' Red Dragons, picks arch - rival South Charleston to defeat Logan. Jack Surrette, who is a three-year man as the Black Eagles' coach, thinks St. Albans is at its peak and very capable of winning a berth in the state tourney at Huntington March 20-21.

The triple A Region 4 battling at the Civic enter will kick off the final tournaments that will decide four finalists each in the three scholastic championship divisions.

Four Class A area tourneys will get underway Friday night and Class A regional play will begin tomorrow night.

Surrette said he knows very little about the Logan Wildcats, a surprising victor over Huntington East to reach the Region 4 showdown. He called Princeton the best team his Black Eagles faced all season.

Princeton (20-1) is favored to win the Region 3 crown at Fayetteville. The Tigers beat South Charleston in the regular season finale at home by 12 points, but SC outgoaled Rod Thorn and Co.

St. Albans and South Charleston are the tallest teams in the Region 4 field. The Red Dragons will open with Dick LaLance, a six-footer, and Frank Roy, 6-2, at forwards and 6-3 junior Al Bailey at center.

South Charleston has 6-2 forwards in Carl Ward and Buzzy Harrison and a 6-4 center in Jay Dietz. Bob Sibold, a 6-3 standout who was a regular, broke his ankle in the game at Princeton and was lost for tourney play.

The off day in Region 4 was set up by the competing coaches. They wanted the opening doubleheader so that neither survivor would have an extra day of rest.

Region 1 and Region 3 in Class AAA will open tomorrow night when Moundsville (11-10) faces Clarksburg Victory (11-10) and Welch (13-8) meets DuPont (17-5), respectively.

Clarksburg Washington Irving (15-4) plays Weirton (16-5) in the other first-round Region 1—AAA game at Moundsville Friday night, while Princeton takes on tournament-dangerous Beckley (17-4) in Region 3.

Region 2 at Morgantown will have a doubleheader Friday night. Martinsburg (13-8) will play Richwood (17-4) and Fairmont West (17-4) will meet Elkins (17-4).

Finals in Regions 1, 2 and 3 will be Saturday night.

Doubleheaders tomorrow night in Region 3 and Region 4 will start the Class AA battling.

Northfork-Elkhorn (21-1) plays Mullens (13-9) and Beckley Stratton (9-13) faces Peterstown (16-6) in Region 3 at Princeton. Region 4 at St. Albans will include Lookout (16-6) vs. Ceredo Kenova (6-15) and Poca (11-11) vs. Matewan (22-1).

New York Businessmen Backing Sports In City

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—This city's capture of the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight for Yankee Stadium June 23 is just the beginning of a drive by business interests to make New York a flourishing sports center again.

"This fight means 60 million dollars in business for New York," said Bill Zeckendorf Sr., hotel chain owner and realtor. "We and the other business interests in New York were determined to get the fight.

"This is just the beginning. We intend to bid for major league baseball, football and other boxing shows. This is only in our self-interest. Whatever we lose to other cities means a loss to hotels here and other businesses."

Fight promoter Bill Rosensohn disclosed at a press conference Tuesday that it was "a dramatic, last minute guarantee of $600,000 by Bill Zeckendorf and his son that swung me in favor of New York City.

"I'm telling you frankly that I was all set to have the fight in Chicago until that bid was made Monday. Ragnar Benson of Chicago had guaranteed me $500,000.

The move by Zeckendorf and other industrial leaders apparently means that solid backing will be given to Mayor Robert Wagner's movement to get a second major league baseball team in New York to make up for the shift of the Dodgers and Giants to California.

Rosensohn said he expected to gross at least a million dollars at Yankee Stadium. He also figures to clear a minimum of $300,000 from either home television or theater television. He said he already has reservations for 4,200 seats from fans in Sweden.

Strickland Is Shooting For Shortstop Position

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — George Strickland, the balding shortstop who was off baseball last year, is behaving mighty strangely for a man who has quit the game.

He lately has been observed consorting openly with the Cleveland Indians.

Evidence that Strickland might have fallen back into his old ways seemed to gather compelling force when he was found sitting in the Cleveland dressing room. He was wearing a Cleveland uniform and perspiring most suspiciously.

Under skillful questioning, he broke down and talked, seeming almost relieved to get the whole thing out in the open.

"You kinda miss the game after playing it 12 or 13 years," he said. "After I quit last year, I didn't pick up a bat. The only games I saw all season were on TV.

"I quit for personal reasons, which I won't go into. They seemed sound at the time, and I guess they still are.

"My decision to come back didn't result from just any one thing. It was an accumulation of things. Near the end of the summer, I wrote Frank Lane (the Cleveland general manager) and asked Commissioner Frick to be reinstated. I felt that I'd kept myself in good shape and I figured I could play a few more years.

"I thought spring training was really going to be tough this time. But I'm a little amazed at the shape I'm in already.

"I don't know what the club is thinking, but if my hitting picked up a little I think I'd have as good a shot as anyone at one of the infield positions."

Strickland, who has a lifetime major league batting average of .222, is the oldest infielder on the Cleveland roster, with the exception of 40-year-old Mickey Vernon. George was 33 in January.

Lane Not Alarmed At Beating Cubs Gave Cal McLish

"Compared with the way the guy looked a year ago," Lane said, "he was a champion out there today."

The Cubs batted around and scored five runs in the first inning and added another run in the second, but McLish set them down in order in the third.

McLish, who led the Cleveland pitchers last year with a 16-8 record, had been offered as trade bait for an established third baseman. But now that the infield has showed signs of being a satisfactory unit, the pitching staff has become the critical area and Lane has indicated that he had about given up all thought of trading the 33-year-old hurler.

The Cubs got 11 hits off three pitchers to beat the Indians 9-3.

Al Cicotte, who followed McLish to the mound, gave up two runs in three innings, and Russ Heman was touched for a run in the last two frames.

Bill Veeck Purchases Control Of White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veeck and his syndicate have purchased control of the Chicago White Sox but hopes for a "friendly working arrangement" with co-Vice President Charles Comiskey may not be so easy.

Veeck's group put up $2,700,000 Tuesday and bought 54 per cent of the club from Comiskey's sister, Mrs. Dorothy Rigney.

Having completed the purchase, Veeck said he and former major league star Hank Greenberg, a member of the eight-man syndicate, will serve temporarily as executive assistants to John Rigney, Dorothy's husband and co-vice president with Comiskey.

Fritz Pollard was the first University of North Dakota athlete to win a spot on a U.S. Olympic team. A sprinter, he ran third behind Jesse Owens in the 1936 games.

The successful bidder shall furnish a minimum of 10 boats within 30 days after date of award.

THE SUCKER fishermen are active now catching suckers that are native to the pools. The spring upstream spawning run has not yet begun.

Don't ask me how to steak out a sucker, since I have not the proper knife or the know-how as yet to do the trick.

However, a fellow staked out a couple for me last year and got rid of practically all the bones. So all I had to do was take the fillets home and fry them. They were good!

PEOPLE having wild animals and wild birds in their possession are reminded that March 15 is the deadline for making applications for permits to keep them.

It is the law that if you have two wild pets of the same species in possession you can get a free permit.

More than two calls for a $2 permit. To raise and sell wild birds and wild animals, calls for a $10 permit. It is up to the individual to be able to prove that the wild birds and wild animals were taken legally.

You may raise and release wild birds and wild animals with a free permit and have as many birds or animals in possession as you wish.

If you were provided with a permit last year and you still have the birds or animals in possession, then you must get a new permit for the coming year.

You don't need to go out of your way to contact me if you had a permit last year. Just drop a stamped postal card to me and I will put the proper permit in the mail to you.

Anyone neglecting to conform with this law will have to explain to the county judge why they do not have a permit.

This is not a very pleasant duty, but you don't have to be reminded to buy a dog tag, auto license or what have you. You know when a permit is needed, so the matter is in your hands.

IT WILL soon be time to go after those delicious spring morsels, the one mushroom that man never has found a way to grow.

One thing you should watch: After removing the unwanted parts of the plant you had better soak the plant in salt water. In most instances, when nature provides something in the wilds that is good to eat the bugs get there first. It might not hurt you to eat bugs and all, but no one would do so willingly.

Reds Eye Pena In Relief Job

He is Orlando Pena, an industrious 22-year-old bachelor who has a lot of say—in Spanish and in English.

But his hurling last season with the Reds' Havana farm team speaks best for him. He compiled an 11-10 record and a 3.06 earned-run mark before the Reds brought him up to the majors Aug. 22.

After that, he moved into the Cuban winter league where he stacked up a 15-4 mark. The first day he arrived in spring training camp, Pena took part in limbering up exercises, then told Manager Mayo Smith in perfect english: "I'm ready."

Chicago Golden Gloves To Crown Champs Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — Twenty-two young men aiming at eight individual titles battle in the semi-finals and finals of the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions in the Chicago Stadium tonight.

The top performers will represent Chicago in the intercity bouts against New York March 25. These also will be held in the stadium.

Two defending champions—both representing Toledo, Ohio — will be in contention tonight. They are flyweight Gil Yanez and middleweight Wilbur McClure.

McClure will meet Herbert Wills, Cincinnati, for the championship but Yanez will have to battle his way through the semi-finals of the 112-pound division before getting a chance to defend his title.

Defeat Bond Issue

CLEVELAND (AP)—Voters of Garfield Heights Tuesday defeated a $2,035,000 school bond issue for a second time. It received an affirmative vote of 50.5 per cent, but 60 per cent was needed. Last November, 52.1 per cent of those voting favored the issue. The proposed bond issue would have financed building of a new 21-room elementary school, additions to the high school and two elementary buildings and repairs to other schools.

Mantle Rests Shoulder At Yanks Camp

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Mickey Mantle stayed at the New York training camp today nursing a sore shoulder while the Yankees trekked to Orlando for an exhibition game with the Washington Senators.

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, club physician, ordered Mantle to take it easy for three or four days after the $80,000 centerfielder apparently aggravated his right shoulder throwing to first base during an exhibition game with the Milwaukee Braves Monday.

The successful bidder shall furnish a minimum of 10 boats within 30 days after date of award.

THE SUCKER fishermen are active now catching suckers that are native to the pools. The spring upstream spawning run has not yet begun.

Don't ask me how to steak out a sucker, since I have not the proper knife or the know-how as yet to do the trick.

However, a fellow staked out a couple for me last year and got rid of practically all the bones. So all I had to do was take the fillets home and fry them. They were good!

PEOPLE having wild animals and wild birds in their possession are reminded that March 15 is the deadline for making applications for permits to keep them.

It is the law that if you have two wild pets of the same species in possession you can get a free permit.

More than two calls for a $2 permit. To raise and sell wild birds and wild animals, calls for a $10 permit. It is up to the individual to be able to prove that the wild birds and wild animals were taken legally.

You may raise and release wild birds and wild animals with a free permit and have as many birds or animals in possession as you wish.

If you were provided with a permit last year and you still have the birds or animals in possession, then you must get a new permit for the coming year.

You don't need to go out of your way to contact me if you had a permit last year. Just drop a stamped postal card to me and I will put the proper permit in the mail to you.

Anyone neglecting to conform with this law will have to explain to the county judge why they do not have a permit.

This is not a very pleasant duty, but you don't have to be reminded to buy a dog tag, auto license or what have you. You know when a permit is needed, so the matter is in your hands.

IT WILL soon be time to go after those delicious spring morsels, the one mushroom that man never has found a way to grow.

In the meantime, our spring-fed runs are filled with water cress and leafed out enough to make a delicious salad.

One thing you should watch: After removing the unwanted parts of the plant you had better soak the plant in salt water. In most instances, when nature provides something in the wilds that is good to eat the bugs get there first. It might not hurt you to eat bugs and all, but no one would do so willingly.

Reds Eye Pena In Relief Job

He is Orlando Pena, an industrious 22-year-old bachelor who has a lot of say—in Spanish and in English.

But his hurling last season with the Reds' Havana farm team speaks best for him. He compiled an 11-10 record and a 3.06 earned-run mark before the Reds brought him up to the majors Aug. 22.

The righthander pitched 15 innings for the Reds, fanned 11 men and allowed 10 hits.

After that, he moved into the Cuban winter league where he stacked up a 15-4 mark. The first day he arrived in spring training camp, Pena took part in limbering up exercises, then told Manager Mayo Smith in perfect english: "I'm ready."

Chicago Golden Gloves To Crown Champs Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — Twenty-two young men aiming at eight individual titles battle in the semi-finals and finals of the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions in the Chicago Stadium tonight.

The top performers will represent Chicago in the intercity bouts against New York March 25. These also will be held in the stadium.

Two defending champions—both representing Toledo, Ohio — will be in contention tonight. They are flyweight Gil Yanez and middleweight Wilbur McClure.

McClure will meet Herbert Wills, Cincinnati, for the championship but Yanez will have to battle his way through the semi-finals of the 112-pound division before getting a chance to defend his title.

Defeat Bond Issue

CLEVELAND (AP)—Voters of Garfield Heights Tuesday defeated a $2,035,000 school bond issue for a second time. It received an affirmative vote of 50.5 per cent, but 60 per cent was needed. Last November, 52.1 per cent of those voting favored the issue. The proposed bond issue would have financed building of a new 21-room elementary school, additions to the high school and two elementary buildings and repairs to other schools.

Bradley Is Top-Seeded In 12-Team NIT Event

NEW YORK (AP) — Bradley, beaten out by Cincinnati for the Missouri Valley Conference title, has been top seeded for the 12-team National Invitation Basketball Tournament opening at Madison Square Garden Thursday night.

Bradley will play the Butler-Fordham winner in the first game of a quarter-final doubleheader Saturday night with St. Bonaventure meeting the Villanova - St. John's winner in the nightcap.

The quarter-finals will be completed with Oklahoma City against the Denver-NYU winner and St. Louis facing the Providence-Manhattan winner Tuesday night, March 17.

Semifinals are set for Thursday night, March 19, and the finals and consolation game Saturday afternoon, March 21.

Mantle Rests Shoulder At Yanks Camp

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Mickey Mantle stayed at the New York training camp today nursing a sore shoulder while the Yankees trekked to Orlando for an exhibition game with the Washington Senators.

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, club physician, ordered Mantle to take it easy for three or four days after the $80,000 centerfielder apparently aggravated his right shoulder throwing to first base during an exhibition game with the Milwaukee Braves Monday.

Mantle came out for batting practice Tuesday, and reported his shoulder was bothering him again. He injured it in the third game of the 1957 World Series when he collided with Red Schoendienst in a play at second base. The shoulder bothered him at times last year.

"I told him he could work out, but not to throw the ball for several days," Gaynor said.

The injury hampered Mickey last spring and the switch-hitter couldn't bat lefthanded without pain. In June he was given treatments, and apparently the trouble was corrected.

Liquor Prices To Be Raised 10% On April 1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has arrived at a new formula, setting retail prices for liquor, to become effective April 1. It will amount to about a 10 per cent increase, officials said.

Agreement on the cost increase, under study since Gov. Michael V. DiSalle called for 20 million more in revenue from the department, was reached Tuesday night after a conference between liquor director Richard C. Crouch and the Board of Liquor Control.

The increase may not amount to as much as 10 per cent on some brands due to application of the new formula. Previously, the department figured its 30 per cent markup in the basic cost after taking out federal, state and department gallonage taxes. Under the new formula, the department will base its retail price on the total cost to the department, including the gallonage taxes—then taking a 28 per cent markup.

Under the new formula, however, the department's own 50-cent gallonage charge will be eliminated. Federal taxes and the $1 state gallonage tax are mandatory by statute.

In addition to the agreement on the price increase, the director and the board agreed to allow the department to charge $5 for a special order, regardless of the amount, instead of a $1.50 a case as in the past. A special order is that given the department for liquors not carried as regular items in the state stores.

Both Houses Slate Vote On Hawaii Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Statehood for Hawaii, an issue in Congress for 40 years, burst into full flame today as both Senate and House prepared to take up the bill.

The House Rules Committee cleared the way Tuesday for House consideration of the measure under procedure allowing six hours of general debate in addition to time spent considering amendments. Action may come Thursday. The Senate arranged to take up the measure after disposing of a draft extension bill.

Both Houses Slate Vote On Hawaii Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Statehood for Hawaii, an issue in Congress for 40 years, burst into full flame today as both Senate and House prepared to take up the bill.

With passage apparently assured, the big question was which chamber would win the race to act first to add a 50th star to the flag.

The House Rules Committee cleared the way Tuesday for House consideration of the measure under procedure allowing six hours of general debate in addition to time spent considering amendments. Action may come Thursday. The Senate arranged to take up the measure after disposing of a draft extension bill.

In other business, the board agreed that Lisbon schools will return to Eastern Standard Time the last Sunday in September, regardless of the official time the village follows.

The board approved the Lisbon Ministerial Association's use of the McKinley School for Daily Vacation Bible School June 8 through June 19.

The board will sell 16 radiators and one large boiler that was formerly used at the old Market St. School.

The board gave permission to use the three schools, Lincoln, McKinley and the High School, to display the new voting machines that will be used in Lisbon at the primaries.

The Athletic Association reported that the Columbiana basketball game grossed $197.11; the Louisville game, $100.06, and the East Palestine game, $166.91.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Child's Good Manners Begin At Home

When I go to my bank to use my safety box, the banker uses his key first, then mine to get out the box. Learning to wait is the youngster's first key to good manners. This key must be used before the key to thoughtfulness for the rights and feelings of others will work. The youngster who has nearly always had what he wants when he wants it will hardly acquire good manners. He might take on a bit of the veneer of good manners under social pressures of older persons or his social set.

By Garry Meyers

He might at ten or twelve, for example, learn to bid the hostess goodbye at the end of a party. Or he might at fifteen learn to observe certain niceties of social grace at a ball or formal dinner.

BUT ON his own among other children, on the bus, at a movie or a game, he may lack the alphabet of self-control and consideration for other persons not of his immediate circle unless he had been trained at home in courteous behavior.

While home training practiced from the child's early years is indispensable to learning good manners, this alone is not enough. He must also be with parents and other persons who exercise good manners as a matter of everyday life, in an atmosphere of understanding, companionship and love.

Enjoying these relationships in his home, he grows ready to profit from the quiet suggestions of a parent, "This is the way to do it," or, "We don't do that because it makes others present feel less comfortable, makes them like us less."

IN THE development and enforcement of regulations about the home in consideration for the rights of all others there, the child gradually acquires self - control. Then he waxes more and more ready to guide his own behavior at home. With the aid of his imagination, he tries to put himself in the place of others in the home and those who come there as guests.

My bulletins "Good Manners and Self-Control" and "Good Manners Make You Likeable" may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Child's Good Manners Begin At Home

When I go to my bank to use my safety box, the banker uses his key first, then mine to get out the box. Learning to wait is the youngster's first key to good manners. This key must be used before the key to thoughtfulness for the rights and feelings of others will work. The youngster who has nearly always had what he wants when he wants it will hardly acquire good manners. He might take on a bit of the veneer of good manners under social pressures of older persons or his social set.

By Garry Meyers

He might at ten or twelve, for example, learn to bid the hostess goodbye at the end of a party. Or he might at fifteen learn to observe certain niceties of social grace at a ball or formal dinner.

BUT ON his own among other children, on the bus, at a movie or a game, he may lack the alphabet of self-control and consideration for other persons not of his immediate circle unless he had been trained at home in courteous behavior.

While home training practiced from the child's early years is indispensable to learning good manners, this alone is not enough. He must also be with parents and other persons who exercise good manners as a matter of everyday life, in an atmosphere of understanding, companionship and love.

Enjoying these relationships in his home, he grows ready to profit from the quiet suggestions of a parent, "This is the way to do it," or, "We don't do that because it makes others present feel less comfortable, makes them like us less."

IN THE development and enforcement of regulations about the home in consideration for the rights of all others there, the child gradually acquires self-control. Then he waxes more and more ready to guide his own behavior at home. With the aid of his imagination, he tries to put himself in the place of others in the home and those who come there as guests.

With good home training, he is well prepared to feel and act thoughtfully away from home as well.

My bulletins "Good Manners and Self-Control" and "Good Manners Make You Likeable" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Incinerator Blamed After Blaze In Store

An overheated basement incinerator ignited a nearby door jamb at the D. M. Ogilvie & Co. store on E. 5th St. Tuesday afternoon at 3:07.

City firemen said the heat was too extreme for an asbestos covering on the wood. Firemen said employes threw water on the flames and then used an extinguisher in attempts to put out the fire.

A booster line was used by firemen to finally quell the blaze. Fire Chief Charles Brian said the fire could have been a "bad one" if it had not been discovered.

In a 20-minute talk, Willshaw declared that the city can operate within its present income, although no money would be available for improving city services., replacing worn-out rolling stock and launching a program of major capital improvements.

The five-year capital improvement program, highlighted by proposals for reconstruction of major thoroughfares and paving or resurfacing of many other streets throughout the city, was proposed to Council Monday night by Mayor Fred P. Lawrence when he asked re-enactment of an income tax measure.

Willshaw explaned the city's sources of income and traced its expenditures. A question and answer period followed.

Dr. Edith Gilmore, president, conducted business. Reports were given by Miss Justine Miller, secretary, and Mrs. Dorothy Horsley, treasurer.

Mrs. Edna Jones of the ways and means committee announced the club is selling Easter candy.

Miss Phyllis Crook read the report prepared by William E. Weidner, director of the East Liverpool Speech and Hearing Clinic. There have been 12 Saturday clinics at Westgate school, with 26 children receiving the therapy. Four student therapists assist the director.

A dinner meeting will be held March 24 at the Travelers, when the nominating committee will report.

Mrs. Sykes, 35, told fire investigators she looked in on the children once and then returned half an hour later and found the house in flames.
